Heat Turned on After Cool Night

After a night of comparative coolness, Victoria plunged again today, in lesser degree, into a continuation of the northwest's unprecedented heat wave.

It was not as hot as the last few days—but almost.

At noon the temperature at Gonzales was 76—and going up, although there were no signs it would go over the 80 mark.

Thunder and lightning threatened seriously yesterday afternoon and during the night, but the storm was of minor proportions—not nearly as heavy as people anticipated when they saw black clouds blot out the sun.

There was distant thunder in the afternoon and some forked lightning, but the finest display did not occur until dark. Then sheet lightning filled the sky, making a magnificent picture from the waterfront, where thousands of people went to see the natural fireworks.

This morning broke cool and pleasant, but by 11 it had commenced to warm up again and once more citizens discarded coats and flocked to the ice cream and soft drink stands.

Only One Woman Tries to Join Army

If Victoria women are anxious to serve in the army, and if the army is eager to have them in its ranks, little sign of it has been shown as yet in the local area.

Recruiting officers expected there would have been a rush when Ottawa announced women would be given certain positions in the army. To date, only one woman has applied to join the army at military district headquarters here, and she was rejected.

Apart from nursing sisters, 57 women are serving with the army in this area, all as civilians.

The Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps ranks first as an employer of women, with 13 serving as clerks and 12 on its kitchen staff. Garrison headquarters employs 19 women stenographers, the treasury at Work Point seven stenographers, and the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals has six girls working at Signal Centre.

Record Salmon Run

Salmon run at Stamp Falls just out of Alberni is the heaviest ever recorded, according to R. M. McQuoid, government fisheries guardian.

One day's count showed 900 climbing the fish ladders at the Forestry Project park, just outside Alberni. Lowest day's run recorded this season has been 375 with most days running between 600 and 700.

Thousands of lampreys are climbing the falls on their way to the spawning beds.

Crowds of visitors are being attracted by the sight, many daily motoring 125 miles from Victoria.

Indication that the spring salmon run is starting comes from the Alberni Canal where T. K. DeMorest of the Somass Hotel has just hooked one so powerful that it tore leader and a 24-test line to tatters.

Canadian and Associated Press

Hand-to-hand bayonet combat in trench warfare radically altering the Germans' blitzkrieg style was reported to have developed today with the Russian army holding on after a night-long battle on the huge front from the Baltic to the Black Sea.

As the Germans' second sustained offensive drew to the close of its first week, a Soviet communique reported pitched battles at the scenes of major action several days earlier—in the Pskov-Porkhov, Smolensk, Bobruisk and Bessarabian sectors.

A dispatch from the front to Izvestia, the official Moscow government newspaper, said a new battle situation had arisen with Russian troops digging into individual trenches to escape the German artillery and aviation and to meet Nazi infantry with bayonets.

Despite heavy German fire, Izvestia said, the Russians are emerging from bombardments with small losses as a result of these tactics, and one battalion was said to have repulsed eight successive German assaults that way.

Another, it was reported, withstood German onslaughts for 20 hours, then counter-attacked at night and caught the Germans by surprise, wiping out a group of staff officers.

Reports from the front said rain was falling, drenching the flat lands and marshes and threatening to ground German dive bombers and halt tanks at the critical moment of the German offensive.

Today's communique from Hitler's headquarters said "tremendous operations on all sectors of the eastern front are progressing in our favor."

Although the high command reverted once again to its single-sentence report on the battle which is described by the Nazis as transcending any other in history for sweep and size, its bulletin still reflected unreserved confidence.

Capture of a Russian airplane depot with 150 planes on the line of the German drive toward Leningrad was claimed by German spokesmen.

In the same area, these sources claimed Nazi forces had captured 4,000 horses and 1,000 trucks and taken 1,000 prisoners after inflicting heavy losses on the Red army.

In London authoritative quarters today said the German advance on the Leningrad and Smolensk fronts had "not been completely halted." It was stated, however, that Russian counter-attacks have been carried out at several places on the long front.

German reports claimed Kiev, capital of the Ukraine, was under heavy pressure, and Berlin was said to be keyed up by the expectation that its fall might be announced at any time. However, a broadcast by DNB, Nazi news and propaganda agency, heard in London, acknowledged the strong Russian counter-attacks on German infantry trying to advance toward Kiev in the wake of armored units.

Heavy Fighting On Bobruisk Front

Today's Russian communique described the Red army as hanging on, determined and unyielding at every vital position.

The battling, contrary to recent days when a lull had been experienced on most sectors at dusk, rose to a fierce tempo almost the entire length of the front.

Only in a variation of the sectors where especially heavy engagements were mentioned did the communique covering night operations differ from that of yesterday.

Heavy fighting was reported during the night in the Bobruisk area on the south side of the Smolensk salient, where the Germans have driven to within 230 miles of Moscow. Yesterday it was on the north side of the salient that fighting was hardest.

The Novograd-Volynski area before Kiev was not especially active, according to the Soviet command.

But in the Pskov-Porkhov sector on the road to Leningrad, in Bessarabia where the Germans evidently were pushing harder toward Odessa, the Black Sea port, and the Smolensk zone before Moscow there was a continuous roar of artillery fire, the rapid shifting of mechanized forces and the heavy action of bombers.

22 Nazi Planes Bagged in Day

The Soviets said they had destroyed 22 German planes in air battles and bombings yesterday in exchange for a loss of eight of their own planes.

Russian advices pictured Red army troops hanging on to the dangerous flanks of the German salient driven toward Moscow, offering prolonged and sometimes suicidal resistance at many strong points far behind the Nazi spearheads and conducting a ceaseless guerilla warfare behind the lines.

The only action reported on the Finnish front was in the Arctic Ocean off Rybach Peninsula, where it was said a Nazi submarine was sunk by a mine.

The Soviet command communique said many German aircraft were destroyed when Soviet planes attacked German airfields, and trucks and tanks were smashed in bombing of mechanized columns.

Ninety-eight German planes had been destroyed the past two days at an expense of only 23 Soviet planes, it was claimed.

DNB claimed from Bucharest that Nazi and Rumanian troops had occupied the Bessarabian towns of Hotin, Soroca and Orhei—all on or near the south bank of the Dniester River.

The Dniester formed the old boundary between Russia and Bessarabia, which the Soviet took from Rumania by ultimatum a year ago.

Next Move in Far East Awaited

Japan Gets Military Cabinet, Matsuoka Out

TOKYO (AP)—Prince Fumimaro Konoye today formed a cabinet with half its members generals or admirals, and declared that "the empire's policy, for coping with the international situation already has been fixed, and it now remains for us to put into practice with decision and speed."

What action this portended the premier did not disclose, but in a statement to the nation he called for unity, because "with the rapid changes that are taking place" in world affairs, "the mission of our country is growing heavier and heavier."

Day-to-day Plan May Be Adopted

Vice-Admiral Teijiro Toyoda, who became Foreign Minister, said Japan's foreign policy might have to be adapted to "the day-to-day international situation."

Little is known of the foreign policy outlook of Toyoda, successor to Yosuke Matsuoka, who concluded the neutrality pact with Soviet Russia after aligning Japanese policy with the Axis while foreign minister in the preceding Konoye government.

"With the earnest support of 100,000,000 Japanese," Konoye's message said, "I intend to do everything in my power to accomplish the great ideal on which the foundation of our empire was based by overcoming all difficulties that may lie in my country's path."

The new government contains three admirals and four generals, and was described authoritatively as a wartime cabinet of conceptrated power. Domei, the Japanese news agency, noted that at its first session the only speaker besides Konoye was the war minister, Gen. Eiichi Tojo.

(In Hongkong Chinese papers today contend the chief motive of the reorganization of the Japanese cabinet was to tear up the neutrality agreement with Soviet Russia.)

No Proof Swing to Britain

In London a well-posted British political source said today that at first glance, the Japanese changes appeared to be a swing away from Axis influence toward a "purely Japanese policy." He emphasized, however, that this did not necessarily mean a policy favorable to British interests.

(Another view in these quarters was that the cabinet reshuffle was intended merely to ease Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka out of office. "Undoubtedly Matsuoka lost face with his own people when the Germans marched into Russia," one commentator said. "It is a safe bet he never was given the slightest intimation of such action when he visited Berlin and Rome.")

(There is nothing in the changes, it was said, to give a clue to Japan's immediate course of action, especially regarding any possible moves against French Indo-China or Soviet Russia.)

The new cabinet, described as streamlined, is the third Konoye ministry. It succeeds the second

"We shall act with speed" Premier Prince Konoye.

Konoye cabinet, which was installed just a year ago today and resigned last Wednesday night. It has the totalitarian-minded Baron Kiichiro Hiranuma as vice-premier.

Yosuke Matsuoka is out.

The Japanese press forecast a considered, cautious foreign policy and the Tokyo stock market seemed unaffected by the cabinet changes.

Toyoda had been minister of commerce and industry in the second Konoye cabinet. He took that post after a reshuffle last April 4 which lifted him from the post of vice-minister of navy. Today he became not only Foreign Minister but Minister of Overseas Affairs as well. The overseas portfolio had been held by Kiyoshi Akita.

Toyoda ended 35 years of navy service to enter the second Konoye cabinet. He will be 56 in August. His real career began with his dispatch to London as naval attaché at the embassy there. He was a delegate to the London Naval Conference.

He has been a member of the Naval Staff College, chief of the "general affairs" section of the naval technical department, commander-in-chief of the Sasebo naval station, director of the naval construction department and director of naval aviation headquarters.

Admiral Chosen Trade Minister

Vice-Admiral Seizo Sakonji became Minister of Commerce and Industry, Toyoda's old post. The ministries of communications and railways were both taken by Shozo Murata, who had held the communications portfolio.

Lieut.-Gen. Chikahiko Koizumi is the new Minister of Welfare, succeeding Yasuo Kanemitsu.

Maj.-Gen. Teichi Suzuki and

Lieut.-Gen. Heisuke Yanagawa are new ministers without portfolio.

The war minister is Lt.-Gen. Eiichi Tojo, and the navy minister is Admiral Koshiro Oikawa, both hold-overs from the previous Konoye cabinet.

Konoye Acts As Justice Minister

Prince Konoye assumed the office of minister of justice himself.

Harumichi Tanabe, communications minister in the 1939 Hiranuma cabinet, became home minister.

Ousted, besides Matsuoka, were Isao Kawada, finance minister; Tsuneo Kanemitsu, welfare; Goro Ogawa, railways, and Kiyoshi Akita, overseas affairs.

The last three were party men. Their removal means the government has been "cleaned 100 per cent," as Domei, Japanese news agency, expressed it, of "party influence."

(Konoye has led the movement for elimination of Japanese political parties. He instituted instead a campaign for a "new national structure" which, aside from being party-less, is still a vague totalitarian concept so far as general public knowledge goes.)

Domei said Kanemitsu, Ogawa and Akita had been regarded in the old cabinet as "more or less representing the interests of defunct political groups."

Emperor Hirohito early tonight approved the new cabinet.

8 Oregonians Die In Heat Wave

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—The current heat-wave's death toll in Oregon mounted to eight with four new deaths here being charged directly or indirectly to the soaring temperature.

R. R. Shedd, 53, Portland, collapsed Thursday afternoon and died early today. Jesse Mismar, 40, Portland mechanic, died last night a few hours after collapsing. Physicians said both deaths resulted from the heat.

Louis A. Ziemer, 65, Portland, was found dead in his room early today. Doctors blamed his death on a heart attack precipitated by the 100-degree heat and intense humidity. Thelma Leonetti, 37, Portland, succumbed last night.

Previously three Portland and one Corvallis, Ore., casualties were blamed wholly or in part on the hot weather, now in its sixth day.

6 Alberta Children Drown in Slough

EDMONTON (CP)—Five children, all members of one family, and perhaps a sixth from another family, were drowned yesterday in a slough near St. Paul, Alta., 128 miles northeast of Edmonton. Royal Canadian Mounted Police here reported today.

Five children, aged two to 13 years, of Steve Schmelyk of Goodfish Lake, fell from a home-built skiff. The report added Nancy Melnychuk, six, daughter of John Melnychuk, was missing and it was believed she had been with the five others.

Army of 325,000 Crushed in Africa

LONDON (CP)—The British campaign in Italian East Africa crushed an army of 325,000 men, of whom 125,000 were Italians and the rest natives, an authoritative statement said today.

The statement said almost 100,000 Italians were made prisoners, 6,000 still were at large and the rest dead, while 60,000 natives were made prisoners and the others either deserted or killed.

Equipment taken during the campaign, the statement said, included 800 guns, thousands of machine guns, 150 tanks, thousands of motor vehicles, 1,500,000 shells, rounds of rifle ammunition at Asmara, Eritrea, and a total of 3,500,000 rounds of rifle ammunition at Isola and Baldoia, Italian Somaliland.

NERVES FRAYED

(In Cairo today the British army reported nerves of the Axis forces besieging a British force in Tobruk, on the Libyan coast, "evidently are becoming frayed" by the garrison's continued vigorous sallies. The enemy is resorting to searchlights for ground observation at night.

"Another of our patrols made a brief penetration into enemy positions south of Tobruk," said today's Middle East command communiqué. "Casualties were again inflicted on the enemy."

(British headquarters today said the French governor of Jibuti in French Somaliland has been requested to remove women and children from the colony. No reply thus far has been received, it was said.

Hopkins Speaks in London

U.S. Promises Vast Fleets To Feed, Supply Democracies

LONDON (CP)—United States is going to build enough ships "to bring goods into the United Kingdom and into every theatre in the world where democracies are fighting Hitler," Harry Hopkins, supervisor of the United States lend-lease program, said today.

Here on an official visit, Mr. Hopkins told a press conference he estimated United States ship-building yards would build and make ready for sea, 1,000,000 tons of merchantmen during 1941 and at least 6,000,000 tons next year.

"We are going to see that the food is in those ships and that adequate amounts of cheese and dairy products, fats and pork products get over here," he said.

U.S. Vessels Go to Iceland

He said American flag ships could, of course, go to Iceland, but he declined to discuss whether trans-shipment of war supplies to Allied merchantmen there was contemplated on a large scale.

"The President has said our goods are going to arrive," he said. "All I can say is that we are going to do it."

And, he added, "we are going to protect our ships."

To questions whether United States merchantmen would send supplies to China, Malaya and Singapore, Mr. Hopkins answered only that "every ship of ours that moves anywhere in the world, has one purpose, the war effort, and it is done in the closest co-operation with your Ministry of War Transport and their representatives in America."

He said he could not comment on whether the United States was sending war supplies to Soviet Russia or to Turkey.

Mr. Hopkins said he would be here a week or 10 days and then would fly home. He emphasized his visit was concerned solely with the supply of war goods.

Great Upswing In Plane Output

He told his British and American interviewers:

"We have launched our vast program of airplane production which is moving ahead very rapidly now. Great new factories are coming into production in the near future, particularly for heavy 4-engine bombers."

The bombers, he asserted, would be able to reach into easternmost parts of Germany.

"We are convinced that be-can build far more of these planes per month than Germany—and better ones," he said.

Will Surprise World With Production

"As a general comment on production in America, I would say production is increasing every month. It is going to increase every month and it is going to be more extensive than anybody realizes."

"The whole production effort of your own country and ours must be to supply munitions of war that are sufficient to overwhelm the dictatorships. That's the only purpose—to whip this fellow."

"I am convinced the British Empire and the United States and those people who still are free can produce the mechanical equipment which is required in this war in vastly greater quantities than Hitler can, so those depressed peoples throughout the world who may be worrying how this war is going must know this war just cannot be lost."

The United States also is going to increase very substantially the plant production of tanks, anti-tank guns and anti-aircraft guns, he added.

Losses in Raid on Hull

R.A.F. Blasts French Coast, Sets Big Fires in Rhineland

LONDON (CP)—The Royal Air Force concentrated today on Nazi targets in Nazi-occupied France while the Air Ministry announced that British bombers last night smashed at industrial areas of off-bombed Cologne and elsewhere in the German Rhineland.

Great fires were started by super-bombs and incendiaries in the night raids. Many bombs were seen to plummet on their targets, despite weather not favorable to bomb aimers.

Also attacked during the night was Axis shipping in the French harbor of St. Nazaire. A vessel of 4,000 tons was struck by explosives.

During night offensive patrols by fighter planes, Nazi airdromes in occupied France were bombed and machine-gunned. From all these operations one plane was lost.

Bombardment of Nazi positions in France continued in daylight today.

Coast observers said British planes sped over the Channel and attacked the Calais, Dunkerque and Ostend regions. Other planes centred the attacks well inland.

In battles during daylight yesterday over the English Channel and northern France the R.A.F. destroyed nine enemy planes and lost six fighters.

In an elaboration of yesterday's attacks the Air Ministry said today that pilots flying United States built bombers started fires on an airdrome in northern France which were visible 40 miles away.

The Press Association said the offensive against Axis shipping on the west front has completed a harvest of 56 ships totaling 200,000 tons sunk or badly damaged in the past 10 days.

Fires, Deaths In Raid on Hull

Nazi air raiders dropped bombs on the northeast coast port of Hull last night in one of the most severe assaults on the British Isles in weeks.

Incendiary bombs started a ring of fires and many heavy explosives fell on houses, commercial buildings and shops, causing extensive damage and many casualties.

Three shelters on one street were hit and most of the persons in them were killed. Two banks and a small post office were destroyed and a theatre was cut in half.

Five men in a hotel were trapped by debris when a bomb demolished part of the building. Two were rescued and squads searched for the others.

Over other parts of Britain, enemy activity was light. Some bombs were dropped, but no damage or casualties were reported.

German long-range guns fired 16 shells from emplacements on the French coast in the darkness early today, apparently at a convoy in Dover Strait, although no ships could be seen from the English cliffs.

British Planes Bomb Cities in Libya

CAIRO (AP)—Heavy bombing attacks on the Axis-held Libyan coastal cities of Tripoli, Benghazi, Derna and Bardia on the past three nights were reported today by the Royal Air Force Middle East command.

Aircraft of the fleet air arm were credited with a torpedo hit on a 6,000-ton tanker at Tripoli. The vessel was left enveloped in black smoke, the communiqué said. Another merchant vessel may have been exploded by a bomb hit, it was said.

Docks, coal stores, railway workshops and sheds were bombed at Benghazi. Hits near the post and telegraph office, barracks, electric power stations, garages and repair shops were reported at Derna and huts and tents were fired at Bardia, according to the communiqué.

A formation of Italian planes was intercepted yesterday over Malta by the R.A.F., which shot down two of them, and damaged several others. In all these operations the R.A.F. reported loss of two planes.

(In Rome the Italian high command acknowledged British planes had bombed Palermo, Sicily, and reported heavy air fighting over the British Mediterranean base of Malta.

(The communiqué failed to indicate whether any material damage had been done in the raid on Palermo last night.)

TRAIL, B.C. (CP)—Condition of Thomas R. Anderson, who suffered serious burns yesterday when the torch he was using ignited his clothes, was reported good in the Trail-Tadnan hospital.

Plan to Include B.C. Logging

By NORMAN MACLEOD

OTTAWA—Extension of the federal unemployment insurance scheme to cover British Columbia's lumbering industry—logging particularly—is now under official consideration, Labor Department sources revealed today.

The matter is being studied, it is stated, both by the advisory committee of the Unemployment Insurance Commission and by the commission itself. While no decision has been reached, it is understood that a report will be submitted to the government at an early date.

Towards the close of the last session of Parliament a determined effort was made by the British Columbia members of the Commons to have logging included in the list of insured occupations, and the House was held up for several sittings while the government held firm against the proposal.

In a radio address Labor Minister Norman Macleod last evening heralded the "extension" of the insurance plan to additional occupations, and it is understood today that the study now being made of the British Columbia situation was the basis of his reference.

7 PLEAD GUILTY

NEW YORK (AP)—Seven of 33 persons indicted on espionage charges linking them with the German government pleaded guilty in Brooklyn Federal Court today while 23 others pleaded innocent and two failed to appear. One other previously had pleaded guilty.

Federal Judge Clarence G. Galston set bail at $25,000 each for those who pleaded innocent and set September 23 as trial date.

The indictment had this to say about the German government: "The defendants conspired with each other and with the government of the German Reich and with others."

The indictment and statements by government officials asserted German funds maintained radio stations here and in Germany for transmission of United States defence data, that Nazi agents were tutored in camera usage and the making of microphotographic copies and that German funds supported mail depots for the receipt of information in foreign countries and for a specially devised system for paying off spies.

Cannot Live Together

SIDNEY HILLMAN, associate director general of the office of U.S. production management, in New York urged industry and labor to greater defence production and warned the people against traitors who would divide United States opinion and shatter defence morale.

"Hitler has already struck at America with his invisible weapons," Hillman declared in a speech before a "stop Hitler" rally of the fight for freedom committee and the New York committee to defend America. "We must frankly admit that we have our own Quislings and Lavalis who would open the doors to the invader."

Hillman described discord and hatred as one of Hitler's new powerful weapons.

"Hitlerism and democracy can not exist side by side," he declared. "The Nazi objective is world domination. We are included in their timetable. If our defence fails, our democracy dies."

He said he was sure the meaning of the presence of WENDELL WILLKIE as chairman of the meeting "will not be lost on anyone."

Will Leave London Times

GEOFFREY DAWSON, 67, plans to retire as editor of The Times of London in September. He is to be succeeded by BARRINGTON WARD, assistant editor since October, 1927.

Dawson was editor of The Times from 1912 to 1919, leaving after a violent quarrel over policy with Lord Northcliffe, who then owned the paper. He returned as editor shortly after Northcliffe's death in 1922.

Irish Will Fight

PRIME MINISTER EAMON DE VALERA told the Dail Eireann that "if anyone attacks us, then every one of us can die, if necessary, fighting for what we are certain is a just cause."

"If we are attacked at all it will be by one of the big nations of the world. We have to face it and we are prepared to face it. We are determined to live our own life."

Thanks of England

VISCOUNT HALIFAX, British Ambassador to the United States, brought the thanks of his people to workers of the Lockheed airplane factory in Burbank as the 1,000th Lockheed Hudson bomber for Britain rolled off the assembly line.

"I bring the thanks of my people for the skill, craftsmanship, work and good will you are putting into these fighting ships," he said.

"All that you give us," Lord Halifax said, "will be used in the defence of freedom of speech, thought and religion, and the personal liberties, which things the English-speaking people the world over value more highly than life itself."

"You know, we know, and if the Nazis do not know it now, they soon will, what you're doing."

"This plane (referring to the 1,000th bomber) when it gets to England will do its bit to swell the stream of war material which one day will become a flood as preparation becomes production. Planes and ships, ships and planes from this country to join those that our men and women at home are turning out, are what we need most."

Franco Warns U.S.

GENERAL FRANCO, Spanish chief of state, warned the American world in a broadcast against intervention in the European struggle.

Franco told a national council of the Falange (Spanish Fascist) party that such intervention would only multiply the proportions of the conflict.

Franco devoted most of his address, broadcast by the Madrid radio, to analysis of "Germany's and all Europe's war" against Russian Communism, which he declared was "now in complete solidarity with the plutocratic world."

He expressed the sympathy of Spain with the German people.

Europe's Last Refuge

GEORGE BACKER, publisher of the New York Post, expressed the opinion Great Britain did not have enough arms to defend herself from a German invasion, which he considered possible.

Recently returned from a seven-week trip to England, Backer said London warehouses had been destroyed by German bombs and cargoes must be transferred to lighters.

"In London your eyes get accustomed to the destruction, with the heart of the city all gone," he said. "Then your eyes are able to see people going about in the uniforms of other nations, and you realize that London is not alone a capital besieged but also is the last refuge for thousands of Poles, Belgians, French, Dutch and others."

Wants U.S. in War

WILLIAM B. ZIFF, publisher of the United States magazine Flying and Popular Aviation, in New York called for immediate U.S. entry into the war.

He said he favored the immediate step because the United States could take advantage of the opportunity of basing an air force in Great Britain.

"With England serving as our base, we would have the advantage of being only a few hundred miles from Germany, while Germany would be thousands of miles from us," he said.

"With Germany so handicapped, we would be in a position to pour upon her, without fear of retaliation, a deadly destruction which would cripple all her operations and insure victory for the allied forces."

'V for Victory' Worries Nazis

By DOUGLAS AMARON

LONDON (CP)—A man whose name and voice are known to millions but whose real identity is an official secret is conducting Britain's "V for Victory" campaign.

He is "Colonel Britton," the British Broadcasting Corporation's "mystery" speaker who in half a dozen languages sends the people of Germany and Nazi occupied countries messages of encouragement and tells them to spread the "V" for victory sign throughout their lands.

Other than his name, nothing is known about this man. The BBC declines to reveal his identity and the government departments claim to have no cognizance of him. However, he is not Col. Reginald Britton, as has been reported.

CLOCKS STOPPED

Since the broadcasts began the victory sign has been appearing in scores of places in Europe, according to reports reaching London. These say public clocks stop at 11.05 o'clock so the hands will form a "V," the chalked "V" appears on buildings, and fork prongs are spread in restaurants to make a "V."

Even Nazi agents are said to have appeared with a "V" pasted on their backs and a Nazi flier shot down in England is reported to have had a "V" on the back of his tunic when he landed.

GERMANS UPSET

That Germany is aware of the campaign and hopes to turn it against Britain is evident from a broadcast heard last night from the Nazi-controlled Hiltversum station in Holland.

The broadcasts started with the dot-dot-dash Morse signal for "V" and then the announcer told listeners "it is V" for the victory which Germany is winning on all fronts for the freedom of Europe."

DNB, the German news and propaganda agency claimed "V" stood for the German word "Viktoria," despite the fact the customary German word for victory is "sieg."

"V" was chosen for the campaign because it is the first letter of victory in most languages. The French word is "victorie."

PICTURES IN PAPERS

The campaign has received wide publicity in the British press, which daily publishes articles and pictures on new ways the people of occupied countries are said to be spreading the "V."

There will soon be discussion of it in the House of Commons, for Edgar Granville, Liberal National, is going to suggest to Information Minister Alfred Duff Cooper that a special "V" department of political warfare be created.

CBC to Broadcast To French People

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, in co-operation with the World-Wide Broadcasting Foundation's Boston station (WRUL), is about to inaugurate the first series of short-wave programs to the peoples of Nazi-dominated France.

The initiative for this program, which will feature French-Canadian speakers and representatives of the Free French forces, came from Walter Lemmon, president of the World-Wide Foundation. Mr. Lemmon has already developed similar American programs. They are designed to carry truth and consolation and moral support to the people of France.

"Coming from Canada with the true facts about the war effort and enthusiasm of Canadians, as well as the sympathetic cultural attachment, the programs should be even more important," Mr. Lemmon said.

There will be six talks a month, to begin with and they will be put out at hours selected as "the best listening hours" for France. The first program of the series will be given an official send-off and Premier Adolphe Godbout of Quebec, is expected to make the inaugural speech.

Prime Minister's Dog Dies of Old Age

OTTAWA (CP)—Pat, the Irish terrier which has been Prime Minister Mackenzie King's faithful companion for 18 years, died last Monday at Mr. King's summer home, Kingsmere, it was learned today.

Perhaps the most widely-known dog in Canada, Pat accompanied the Prime Minister around Ottawa and on many of his trips outside the capital until a few years ago, when the animal's age began to tell.

He still appeared with Mr. King in many photographs, however, and only this spring scores of letters reached Ottawa from the United States from Americans anxious to know what kind of dog he was. His picture had appeared beside that of Mr. King in many U.S. periodicals carrying the Prime Minister's appeal to Americans to visit Canada this summer.

FRIDAY, JULY 18, 1941

Heartening Words

IN LONDON TODAY, MR. HARRY HOPKINS, supervisor of the United States Lease-Lend program, reassured the British public on several important aspects of American aid to Britain. Among other things he said his country would have ready for sea this year 1,000,000 tons of merchant shipping and at least 6,000,000 tons during 1942, that "we are going to see that food is in those ships," and that adequate supplies of dairy and other essential commodities reach the island fortress. He recalled the fact that the President had said "our goods are going to arrive," and "I can also now say that we are going to protect our own ships." By way of good measure in promise of performance, Mr. Hopkins further assured his British and American interviewers:

"We have launched our vast program of airplane production which is moving ahead very rapidly now. Great new factories are coming into production in the near future, particularly for heavy four-engine bombers able to reach into the easternmost parts of Germany. . . . We are convinced that between England and America we can build far more of these planes per month than Germany—and better ones. . . . As a general comment on production in America, I would say production is increasing every month. It is going to increase every month and it is going to be more extensive than anybody realizes."

No one in the United States, perhaps, is closer to President Roosevelt, or who knows the chief executive's mind better than Mr. Hopkins. His observations in London today, therefore, would seem to be the best answer—in advance—to any peace proposals that Hitler may be induced to offer to the world if and when he shall have subdued sufficient of the Russian armies to permit his warped and fanatical mentality again to underestimate the nature of democracy's stern resolve. One result of Mr. Hopkins' statement and his visit in general will be the creation of a new hope in the minds and hearts of British peoples everywhere.

Is An Election Urgent?

WITH THE EXPANSION OF THE WAR to the Soviet Union, with the prospect of its extension to the South Pacific not to be lightly disregarded, it is not inappropriate to ask ourselves whether a general election in British Columbia in the near future is either a pressing necessity or in the public interest. Were it not for the fact that this province already has signified in practical fashion that it is wholeheartedly behind the national effort—first demonstrated by Hon. John Hart's announcement to the Vancouver Board of Trade last March, and as a natural corollary, by still further concessions offered at Ottawa by Premier Pattullo and his Minister of Finance a month later—an early accounting to the people might have been essential both from the standpoint of provincial reputation and in response to party desire to discover popular opinion.

It is a tradition with the Liberal Party in both federal and provincial fields that no government in its charge should remain in office for the full constitutional term of five years. Mr. Bennett and Dr. Tolmie—in normal times—departed from this accepted custom with tragic consequences for the Conservative administrations over which they presided. Even though the Dominion is passing through the most serious testing period of its history, however, the cost and the mental and business dislocation entailed in a general election might be justified were it not for the fact that, so far as popular expression appears to indicate, no serious harm would be done if the appeal were postponed until early next year. By that time—at least, all fervently hope—the "bloodthirsty gutter-snipe" of Berlin should be well on his way to suitable "liquidation." Incidentally, Premier Pattullo and his colleagues would then be in a better position to recommend to the electors of the province such reforms as the new world outlook might suggest to them.

Provincial politics, as such, at this stage are of interest to few outside the party in office and the party that would like to be in office. Nor is there any valid or compelling reason why, on its general administrative record, the present government should have the least apprehension about the popular verdict—whether the electorate renders its judgment in the early future or nine months hence. Nothing the official opposition has done or said in the Legislature, or since its last session, suggests it has any program superior to the policy pursued in the purely domestic field by the ministry elected in 1933 and endorsed with a handsome majority on the first day of June four years ago. The government has reiterated its desire and intent to contribute in every way possible to the Empire's cause; it has explained its resolve in its official advertisements, Mr. Maitland can promise no more. Will it be seriously argued, then, that a majority of the people of British Columbia are so impatient with the manner in which their affairs are being conducted that they are eager to spend more than $100,000 on a general election while the fate of the world may be hanging more seriously in the balance than it is as we write?

Cabinet of Aggression?

FOUR GENERALS AND THREE ADMIRALS are included in the personnel of the new Japanese cabinet which Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye formed today. Yosuke Matsuoka, the former Foreign Minister, who was largely instrumental in aligning Japan's aggressive policy with that of the Axis—the man, incidentally, who negotiated the neutrality pact with Soviet Russia three months ago—will be able to cure the cold from which he is reported to be suffering without the petty annoyances attaching to official life in Japan these days. He is excluded from what is called Konoye's "streamlined" ministry. His place at the Foreign Office will be taken by a prominent naval expert, Vice-Admiral Tetsuro Toyoda, of whose outlook on the world and international relations little is known. Noteworthy, however, is the occupant of the position of Vice-Premier; he is totalitarian-minded Baron Kichiro Hiranuma.

Until the new cabinet has issued a statement from which its intentions and general attitude toward the present state of world affairs may be learned—if it proposes to take the universal public into its fullest confidence—Japan's designs of a military nature will remain the subject of more or less useless conjecture. But if the apparently top-heavy allocation of posts to soldiers and sailors means anything at all, it should mean, on the face of it, that the government is about to implement the country's membership in the tripartite military alliance with the two European gangsters by action that should far exceed in importance the value of Matsuoka's threats of recent months. This in itself, however, prompts further speculation: Is the inclusion of four generals and the three admirals in the ministry intended to be merely an outward symbol to the other Axis partners rather than to presage, for example, an immediate expansion of Japan's military and naval operations? Or does it mean the end of the pact with the Soviet Union?

Premier Konoye knows, and presumably Emperor Hirohito knows, that no move in the open or behind the scenes in Tokyo escapes the State Department at Washington or the Foreign Office in London. And there is a growing feeling in the neighboring Republic that, sooner or later, the United States and Japan will have to fight; some in high places are even impatient of the delay and would prefer the issue were squarely joined forthwith. It is for the new cabinet to decide, then, whether it is ready to take on the two great English-speaking commonwealths while the China "incident" drags on into its fifth year. Both have evidently come to the end of their various mild forms of appeasement.

A Wise Choice

FRIENDS OF CHINA HAVE NATURALLY welcomed the announcement that Mr. Roosevelt has appointed Mr. Owen Lattimore as special political adviser to the Chinese government. It is generally assumed this well-known authority on Far Eastern questions will serve as a liaison officer between the administration at Washington and that at Chungking. Had he searched the whole of his country's diplomatic service it is not likely the President could have found a more able man for such an important post. Mr. Lattimore knows China and the Chinese people as few others know them; he is the editor-in-chief of "Pacific Affairs," official organ of the Institute of Pacific Relations. He has lectured here and in many parts of Canada on Oriental subjects. He is the foe of those who try to compromise when the democratic way of life is threatened; and if there are any forces in the United States State Department clinging to the idea that it still might be possible to appease Japan, he should prove an effective counterweight. The appointment, in any event, bears further witness to the fact that Mr. Roosevelt is a realist and desires reliable advice in such circumstances as may develop in the Far East at any time.

The jump in meat prices adds one more to the list of needed inventions: a combination refrigerator and wall safe for the lamb chops.

A certain sameness comes over the Fuehrer's ex-planation of any new invasion. There is a sense of having heard it somewhere before—like a birthday form telegram.

FIGHTING MEN WANTED

From Vancouver Sun
Military officers say they are puzzled about how to make an effective appeal to young men between 20 and 30 in their recruiting campaign.

We beg to tell them: The best way to make an effective appeal for recruits is to stop making it.

Make an appeal for fighting men instead. No man, whatever the nature of his spine, looks forward to being a recruit. He DOES look forward to being a soldier, a sailor, a flier, but NOT a recruit. Not that hazy and self-conscious purgatory in between a man's civilian entity and his military dignity when his very title reminds him of awkward squads, fatigues and condescension.

Yet we see military signs, "Recruits Wanted," all over the place. They might as well say, "Rookies Wanted"—it all adds up to the same thing.

There is simply no red-blooded, romantic, go-get-em punch to the word "recruit," and the sooner it is dropped the better. Glorify the fighting services, call them what they are, and let them know and feel that they become so the minute they sign up.

But for the love of Canada, and for the love of the boys themselves, stop calling them recruits.

If we do that, in spirit as well as in fact, we'll have to lock the doors to keep the boys out.

Bruce Hutchison

WE NEED IT

A GREAT MANY PEOPLE, I judge, are complaining about the hot weather. Actually, it hasn't been hot. It has merely been normal. We live in such an abnormal climate most of the time that a little normal weather upsets us. If we had lived in any other part of Canada we would have been used not only to such heat in summer, but to cold in winter, and we would have been the better for it. We would not have got soft.

In Ontario such days as we are having at this writing are quite common and nobody complains. And when I got back to Ontario at this time last year from Washington, the Ontario heat seemed like a cool breath out of the Arctic. The trouble with us here in this island of the Blest, this luscious fairland, is that we don't know how other people live.

There is no use printing the temperature of Ottawa or Washington in the newspapers. Nobody here pays any attention or feels any sympathy. But a few days of heat may make us realize that we are only human beings after all, and not gods, just because we live in a godlike country. This difference in climate is one of the chief reasons for the insularity of British Columbia, its lack of national understanding and the fantastic provincialism of its politicians. We live in a different kind of country from the rest of Canada. If nature would make all Canada hot in summer and cold in winter we might achieve real national unity.

TAN

THIS, THEY TELL ME, is a good time to acquire a tan. Everybody, as I understand, is trying to acquire a tan and, if possible, to resemble the colored races of the Orient and the savages of Africa. Under strong pressure from my friends, I have tried to follow the general fashion. I, too, have tried to acquire a tan by exposure to the sun while hoeing my vegetables.

You expose one side and then the other. You turn yourself about like a roasting chicken on a spit, and if you don't turn fast enough you are bound to be overdone on one side or the other. Most people get overdone on the back and underdone on the front and few are ever able to complete a harmonious color tone completely around the middle. The sides always have an undercooked look.

Still, I was amazed to find how easy it is to get tanned. You would think to read about it in the women's magazines that it was a remarkable accomplishment, not to be attempted without the use of somebody's fancy salve and without a physician always at your elbow and an astronomer to regulate the flow of ultra-violet and actinic rays. I was astounded, therefore, when the tan just came when I exposed the skin. Anybody can do it. You don't need a salve. You don't need a doctor or an astronomer. You only need the sun and a bed of vegetables and a hoe.

People spend huge sums in travel and idleness and luxury to get tanned, but like so many things of value, it is free for the asking. And absolutely no use when you have it. That is the disappointing thing. I had always imagined that if I could get tanned like the young folks, like the pictures of youths in the magazines, I would be suddenly happy and beautiful. I have the tan but am neither. I am the same fellow with a brown back and undercooked sides. There really isn't much to this tanning business. I am going to put on my shirt.

AROUND THE MIDDLE

THE LITTLE BOY from next door was over here just now with a different complaint. He said he had got brown all over, as I could plainly see, except for a band around the middle. This he showed me also and I am bound to say that the sheer glittering whiteness of it, compared with the rich hue of the surrounding territory, was startling. It looked like the color of a grub who has lived too long under a board, and I realized in a horrid flash that we are all that color naturally; we are all colored like grubs from under a board, with a toastful paleness. We are all undercooked, underexposed and soft, where we should naturally be of a ruddy hue everywhere, were it not for the stupid convention of clothes and mediaeval ideas of decency which, in fact, are the height of indecency.

Well, the little boy from next door complained that it was impossible for him to color that white band around the middle. At the lake, he said, they made him wear bathing trunks—not very large, but large enough to prevent a complete cooking job. At night he took them off and swam as he pleased, and as God intended, but then there was no sun. So the white grub-like band around the middle apparently will remain, to spoil a perfect job, and he was very discouraged about it.

Yes, what we need is more sun, more heat. (And now it is too sweltering altogether to complete the important thought with which I started.)

CARIBOO ROAD REPORT

From Bridge River News

Mr. J. N. Davey, Los Angeles, has been in the Stuart Lake country for the past two weeks fishing. Mr. Davey had his colored chauffeur with him, by the name of Bill Bullock. Bill is a graduate of Tennessee University but his pet antipathy seems to be bears. When they stopped at the Chasm, Mr. Davey asked Bill what he thought of it and he said, "It's pretty deep, Mr. Davey, but Ah think if Ah was down in the bottom of that big hole and met a bear I could make it in one jump." When Bill got to Clinton we asked him what he thought of our Cariboo roads and he said, "Boy that road is so crooked in places that ah wore ma horn out tooting at ma own tail-light."

Elmore Philpott

FORD SIGNS

THE MOST far-reaching social changes recently in the United States have passed almost unnoticed. A strike which results in half-a-dozen cracked skulls will stir the whole continent. A labor agreement which marks the end of a whole era of strife is lucky if it hits the front pages even for one edition.

When Henry Ford signed a 100 per cent agreement with the C.I.O., he brought to an end one long chapter in big business. He was the last and greatest of the rugged individualists. He was the arch foe of trade unionism. He not only claimed that his treatment of employees made trade unions unnecessary. But when trade union organizers attempted to crash the gates (figuratively, not literally) Ford's strong-arm squad gave the world a demonstration of how tough and violent big business could be.

Ford lost out in the end because the law of the U.S. says employees have a right to bargain collectively through unions chosen by free vote of the majority of those employed. To give the old gentleman his due, when he did see for himself that the great majority of his employees really wanted the union he most disliked, he went the whole way and signed what trades union organizers consider the best ever contracted by them.

Now Tom Girdler of Republic Steel has been constrained to follow Ford's example. The C.I.O. gets total recognition in the plant which just four years ago came close to being the storm centre of a near civil war. Girdler became an international hero with the foes of unionism. He would go back to the farm, he said, and hoe potatoes, before he would let one C.I.O. man cross his factory threshold. By "his" plant, of course, he meant the plant over which he had management under the delicate system of modern finance.

NOT ABOVE LAW

The worst weakness in North America has been the failure of the law makers to deal directly with industrial relations as with any other field of human activity. The employers and employees have been left to fight it out by a sort of process of civil war. One result is that all sorts of rackets have flourished in the trade union end. Some of the U.S. unions are little better than gangs. Many of the leaders actually are gangsters. These, however, mostly operate in industry like the building trades in the big cities, which are shot through with graft, corruption, extortion, and all-round exploitation of the public.

These evils are not above the law. Nor do so-called jurisdictional disputes deserve any recognition. To permit stoppage of work on planes, for instance, while the C.I.O. tries to muscle in on the A.F. of L. or vice versa, is about the most idiotic procedure I can imagine.

Not till both capital and labor are made to comply with laws that are clear-cut and apply both ways will we have in North America anything like the relationship that has long existed in Britain.

No Profits, No Efficiency; Patriotic Ardor Wanes

George Winder in The Spectator, London.

Like J. L. Hodson, I feel concerned by reports of the lack of materials in our factories at the time they are required and by absenteeism and other evidence of bad organization. But it appears to me that all the inefficiency he mentions would be impossible in a factory run for profit. No such concern would allow men to remain idle for lack of material, and any live employer would have long ago countered absenteeism if it benefited his pocket to do so. Can it be that the cause of this inefficiency is the absence of the profit-motive from our aircraft and other large factories due to the extreme nature of our Excess Profits Tax?

It may be deplorable that patriotism is not in itself a sufficient motive for strenuous effort, but I think there is plenty of evidence that many people who are willing to die for their country are unable to keep up the constant effort of work without direct benefit to themselves. When there is no profit to be made the owner of a factory, harassed by government officials, is all too ready to throw in the sponge and let the officials do the worrying. The result is that in the middle of war management is passing from those who have proved their capacity, by surviving under peace-time conditions, to an unproved bureaucracy. Probably the most dangerous experiment a country at war has ever indulged in.

I recognize all the evils of some people making money during a war while others lose everything they possess and perhaps also their lives, but I am not arguing the ethics of allowing profits to the efficient but the wartime necessity of doing so if we want increased production. In any case there is a difference between making money out of wartime shortage or incidental advantage and obtaining a fair reward for giving us more airplanes, armaments, food and other necessities. We do not rely on patriotism only in obtaining more effort from the worker, we give him increased rates of pay, especially for overtime; to the farmer we give higher prices to induce him to put more land under the plow, but to the armament manufacturer, the most vital man of all, we say something like this: "We want you to turn out 200 planes where you formerly made 100. We will see that you get nothing out of it."

Such departures from common sense will not win wars but it may lose them. It seems to me that those who forced the full 100 per cent rate in the Excess Profits Tax were thinking more of the class-war than the war against the Nazi.

Better English

1. What is wrong with this sentence? "A flock of girls were crossing the street."
2. What is the correct pronunciation of "institution"?
3. Which one of these words is misspelled? Sensitivity, separation, sergeant.
4. What does the word "indeterminate" mean?
5. What is a word beginning with ev that means "to appraise"?

Answers

1. Say, "A bevy of girls was crossing the street." Use flock when referring to birds. 2. Pronounce the u as in cube, not as oo in too; accent third syllable. 3. Separation. 4. Not settled or fixed; indefinite. (Accent follows the r). "He was given an indeterminate sentence, depending upon good behavior." 5. Evaluate.

CARIBOO LITERARY NOTE

From Bridge River News

At the 83, Mr. Walsh has sold quite a number of the Honker Books. "Heifer Dust Inn" is now catching on with the tourists. It makes a nice souvenir. The publishers received an order for 500 copies, which will help some.

Weddings

FULTON-MILLER

A quiet wedding of interest to the groom's many Victoria friends took place in Queen Charlotte City, Queen Charlotte Islands, recently between Mrs. Pearl Eunice Miller, only daughter of Mrs. Beatrice A. Sabin, and the late John C. Sabin of North Vancouver, to Lieut. Frederick J. Fulton, 1st Battalion Rocky Mountain Rangers, C.A., third son of Mrs. Winnifred M. Fulton and the late Frederick J. Fulton, K.C., of Kamloops. The groom is a nephew of the late Mr. Justice McPhillips of Victoria. Captain the Rev. Durnford of Prince Rupert flew by plane to officiate at the wedding. Pilot Officer McKell, R.C.A.F., and Mrs. McKell attended them.

THOMAS-GRIFFIN

At a quiet ceremony at the home of the officiating minister, Rev. F. R. Sawyer, 504 Menzies Street, on Wednesday evening, Mary Griffin, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. N. M. Spratt, Courtenay, became the bride of Mr. Frank Thomas, son of Mrs. W. Thomas of Victoria and the late Mr. Walter Thomas. Miss Marguerite Raftis was bridesmaid, and Mr. Wm. Kennedy supported the groom.

Families Enjoy Sunshine Camp

Eighteen mothers and 40 children left yesterday for Fred Landsberg Sunshine Camp, Saanich. This forms the third party for the season. The returning party returned to town brown and fit after their two-week holiday by the sea. A gain in weight, bright eyes and rosy cheeks, speak in no uncertain terms for the benefits received from the outing.

As the work done by this Community Chest enterprise is so largely preventive, it is almost impossible to evaluate its worth. Only those mothers and children who have no other opportunity of getting away from unsatisfactory living conditions and have health problems as well as other difficulties to face are given this holiday by the sea.

The Family Welfare Association makes the necessary arrangements for the applicants to go to camp, and feels strongly that all sorts of serious trouble is guarded against by the disease resistance built up during the camp period.

For two weeks the tired and work-weary mothers are relieved from all worry and responsibility in the care of the children. Volunteers care for the youngsters, seeing that the long days of sunshine and sea breezes are made happy for them. More than one mother who has come to camp feeling discouraged and fearful to the point of distraction has been given renewed hope and a different outlook on her problems by the time she is ready to return to town.

The camp committee are very appreciative of a donation recently received from Mrs. Eric Hamber, which is to be used to pay the cost of the erection of a jungle gym for the pleasure of the youngsters at camp. This piece of equipment will add greatly to their enjoyment. It will be recalled that last year Mrs. Hamber donated sufficient to build separate sleeping accommodation for staff members, thereby giving them the privilege of having their own quarters. Volunteer assistants leaving with this party were the Misses Lorraine Carruthers, Phyllis Godson and Carol Watson.

Red Cross Notes

A successful garden party was held recently at the home of Miss Ada Burt, 169 Burnside Road, in aid of the Gorge Unit of the Red Cross. The tea tables were arranged under the tree and on the veranda, the guests being received by Mrs. Boam and Miss Burt. Reeve W. L. Passmore of Saanich introduced Brig. Gen. J. G. Austin, who spoke briefly on the aims and achievements of the Red Cross. Mrs. W. Gilbert had charge of the tea arrangements, assisted by Mrs. Cormack and Miss Cook; Mrs. Booth and Mrs. Neilson, home cooking, and Mrs. Gregory-Allen attended to the guessing competition for the cake she donated. Miss Marianne Levings had charge of the candies, and Miss Eva Jane Coffey had the grab bag. Teacups were read by Mrs. B. Levings. During the afternoon vocal selections were rendered by Mrs. Leech, accompanied by Mrs. Gilbert, and Mr. Turner, accompanied by Miss Burt. There will be no meeting of the Gorge Unit until the beginning of August, owing to so many members being away on holiday.

To retain hay quality it is important not to cut common red clover after full bloom.

PHOTOGENICS—In case you didn't recognize her at first glance, we had better record that this is Myrna Loy. The little fellow is "Peter," a three-months-old fawn at Jasper Park Lodge, where Myrna and her husband have been stopping on their vacation tour of British Columbia.

Social and Personal

Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Mills, Moss Street, are visiting on the mainland and will return home tomorrow.

Mr. W. E. Rockingham of "The Highlands," is visiting his son, Capt. John Rockingham, at Truro, Nova Scotia.

Mrs. Herbert E. Cox, with her little daughter Gloria, of Fork Lake, the Highlands, left this week to spend some time at Kelowna.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Keith Brown (nee Daisy de Jong) have returned from their honeymoon and are residing at Kinver Street, Esquimalt.

Mrs. G. A. Wilson, accompanied by her daughter, Barbara-Nell, is visiting her sister-in-law, Mrs. Norman Guy, in Vancouver, for a few weeks.

Mrs. E. G. Prior, St. Charles Street, was hostess at a small bridge party yesterday afternoon, when Mrs. John R. Totten, New York, was guest of honor.

Mr. and Mrs. Brock Whitney of Vancouver, who have been spending the last week here with Mr. Whitney's father, Mr. J. M. Whitney, Victoria Avenue, returned home this afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank MacPherson, who have been visiting in Vancouver and Cranbrook with their sons, have returned to Ottawa. En route home they were the guests of the latter's mother, Mrs. G. N. Jackson of Winnipeg.

Miss Hazel Wright of New York, who is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Wright, Tattersall Drive, and who accompanied them on a trip up-island at the week-end, will leave on Sunday for the east.

Captain F. R. Phipps of Vancouver came over to Victoria to join his wife, who is making her home here while her husband is on military duty. She will accompany him back to the mainland for a visit.

Mrs. Gordon Wismer, wife of the Attorney-General, who recently removed to the mainland, was hostess at her new home in West Vancouver Wednesday afternoon at a garden party sponsored by the North Shore Lady Laurier Club.

Mrs. J. Leforgeais flew to Vancouver Wednesday to spend a few days as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Van Roggen. Mrs. George McKinnon and her son, Mr. Robert Jackson, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Van Roggen, returned yesterday to their home at Shoal Harbor, Sidney.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Duncan of Duncan announce the engagement of their second daughter, Kathleen, to Mr. Earl Jacques, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Jacques, Plaster Rock, N.B. The marriage will be solemnized quietly at Queen Margaret's School Chapel, Duncan, on Saturday, July 26.

Dr. and Mrs. Frank E. Ross of Pasadena, Cal., are visitors in the city for a few days and are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh B. Darnell, "Miyajima," Uplands. Dr. Ross is a noted astronomer and has been associated with Mount Wilson and Palomar Observatories for a number of years.

Mr. John Deane of Hedley, who has been in Portland with a B.C. Police team giving an A.R.P. exhibition, returned to Victoria today to join his wife, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Hamlet, Amphion Street. Mr. and Mrs. Deane accompanied by their small son, Michael, and by Mrs. Deane's cousin, Miss Gwynedd Thomas of Monterey Avenue, will leave tomorrow for their home in the interior, where Miss Thomas will be their guest for a time.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Rhodes was christened recently at Christ Church Cathedral, Rev. J. R. Fife officiating, and the baby received the names Wilfred Thornycroft. The godparents were Mrs. Peter Cockburn, the child's aunt, and his uncles, Mr. Roland Rhodes and Mr. Ernest Force. Mr. Wilfred Force acted as proxy for Ernest Force, who is serving with the Canadian army overseas. After the ceremony, tea was served in the garden of the parents' home on Kisher Avenue.

Miss Ellen Repp, Norwegian-American contralto, who appeared in recital before the Summer School of Education Wednesday evening, was the guest, together with her accompanist, Miss Elsie Hermans, of Mrs. J. O. Cameron on a drive to the Butchart Gardens yesterday, followed by luncheon at Mrs. Cameron's summer home at Cordova Bay. After the recital Wednesday evening, the singer and her accompanist were guests at an informal reception given by Mr. H. L. Campbell, principal of the Summer School, and Mrs. Campbell.

Miss Nora Plaxton of Holland Avenue, entertained at her home in honor of Miss Margaret Burrow, whose marriage will take place in St. Columba Church on August 4. The guest of honor was presented with a miscellaneous shower of beautiful and useful gifts, which were contained in a clothes basket effectively decorated in red and white with streamers attached. A happy evening was enjoyed by the guests, who included: Mesdames L. Burrow, N. E. Plaxton, B. Hodgson and the Misses Margaret and Evelyn Burrow, Mary Knowles, Grace and Myra Hodgson, Joyce Morrell and Phyllis Sheffield.

The members of the Garden City United Women's Auxiliary were entertained on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George Parker, 3142 Irma Street and the happy occasion was enjoyed by a large number. During the afternoon Mrs. W. H. White, one of the charter members, was the recipient of a handsome silver rose-bowl and floral bouquet of carnations and sweet peas in recognition of the celebration of her silver wedding anniversary. Mrs. W. Allan, in fitting words, made the presentation on behalf of the members, and paid tribute to the affection and esteem in which Mrs. White is held by all identified with the women's auxiliary and the congregation. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. W. J. Parker.

Present war tactics are apparently causing more casualties among civilians than among the armed fighters, a medical publication reports.

Never!

ALL DAINTY WOMEN ARE
LUX DAILY DIPPER

Even a hint of "undie odor" will cool a friendship, spoil romance. So never risk wearing today's undies again tomorrow without washing them. For undies absorb perspiration—which quickly leads to unpleasant odor. Don't let this happen to you! Get the habit of dipping your undies in Lux when you take them off at night. Lux removes perspiration—prevents odor—keeps undies fresh!

Soviet Women Serving at Front, But Not as Fighters

By HENRY CASSIDY

MOSCOW. (AP)—Soviet Russia leaves the actual fighting to men, but hundreds of women have gone to the war front, serving chiefly in the medical services.

Many women who are not doctors or nurses are serving in military headquarters as interpreters, stenographers, clerks and similar positions.

Thousands of them are wearing natty uniforms featuring a blue shirt, khaki tunic and peaked cap.

But woman's place in war has been designated formally by the Soviets as behind the lines, replacing men who have gone to the front.

NAZI PROPAGANDA

Reports abroad that Russian women have been fighting as troops in the ranks of the Red army have been dismissed here as German propaganda or stemming from isolated incidents.

For instance, there was the case of the washwoman in a western border town who dropped her washing when the Germans came, grabbed a rifle and helped the local regiment face the attack.

There was another instance in which eight Karelian girls joined with troops in fighting on the Finnish front.

But the general tendency has been to discourage any amazonian ambitions among Russian women and turn their zeal into other channels.

TRAIN AS MECHANICS

Training courses have been provided to equip women for tasks in factories and on farms. The Stalin automobile factory at Moscow, for example, is training 200 girls to become skilled mechanics.

The newspaper Pravda, whose leading editorial daily lays down the law for some branch of Soviet life, had its ray about women early in the war, outlying their specific tasks as:

1. Tilling in factories and fields.
2. Training in first aid.
3. Organizing air raid and gas defence.
4. Watching for speculators, gossips and panic-mongers.
5. Maintaining discipline and helping to guard cities under martial law.

Pravda estimated there are more than 11,000,000 women working in factories and offices, and more than 19,000,000 tilling on farms.

Roosevelt Asks Longer Army Term

WASHINGTON. (AP)—President Roosevelt today disclosed he would send to Congress next week a message urging extended service for United States selectees, reservists and national guardsmen.

He spoke to a press conference of the necessity of avoiding complete disintegration of the army and said the burden was very definitely on Congress. Service of these men is now limited to one year.

Asked whether he would recommend also that draftees and guardsmen be authorized to serve outside the western hemisphere, he replied in the negative.

Legislative quarters also are considering legislation to extend the length of service.

One administration senator, who asked to remain anonymous, said passing of a simple resolution declaring the existence of an emergency would pass to the President the specific duty of ordering the selectees, national guardsmen and reserve officers to remain in uniform longer than the year for which they were called. Present law provides the President with authority to take such action only when Congress declares an emergency.

Sweeping Changes in Styles Because of Rationing

By PAT USSHER

LONDON. (CP)—Full effect of Britain's new coupons-for-clothes order will only be evident when the system has been in force for a full year, but already sweeping changes are foreshadowed in British fashions.

Clothes under the new plan will be designed for utility, not for appearance. Frills and fads must go. Women must say good-bye to different dresses for housework, afternoon gowns, lavish evening costumes. Men must forego a big selection of everyday suits, black coats and striped trousers, dinner jackets and tails. Fashions will not change at the whim of designers from year to year. Usefulness and durability will be standards.

JUST IN TIME

The Board of Trade introduced the rationing system just in time, said an official of the board. If it had waited much longer there would have been very little left to ration. The only alternative would have been to restore supplies to shops to pre-war levels which would have meant more imports and shipping than Britain could afford, and would have kept too many workers away from munitions.

Here are some other changes

forecast in wake of the new edict:

Mending will come into its own again, at home and in clothes' stores. Women will go bare-legged in summer to save fragile silk stockings. Men will switch from vests to pullovers. Sports clothes and the popular English combination of sports coat and flannel trousers will disappear.

An Evening News cartoon depicted a club man proudly displaying to admiring fellow-members a formal suit with a prominent tweed patch in the pants. "The suit's 1934," he was saying, "but this is a bit of genuine 1928."

Here are some of the things Britons can still buy without giving up coupons: Clothing for children up to four years of age, hats, boiler suits, mending wool and mending silk, boot and shoe laces, elastic, lace and lace net braces and garters, clogs, all second-hand articles.

BETTER BE THIN

Here are some further side-lights: A thin woman is better off than her stouter sister when making clothes. Outside people get no extra ration.

There's nothing to prevent a woman making herself a dress from unrationed blackout curtaining. If all your clothing is destroyed in an air raid you can receive 132 coupons—two years' supply.

There will be no extra allowance for wedding dresses.

No Glamour About Army Auxiliary Services

By JAMES MCCOOK

OTTAWA. (CP)—Canadian women seeking to join the auxiliaries to the fighting services are asking for no special privileges, are eager to co-operate with authorities and realize that much of the work they will be required to do will be lacking in glamour and excitement, Maj. Gen. L. R. LaFleche, associate deputy minister of national war services, said today.

Gen. LaFleche said he had conferred with representatives of women's organizations which have voluntarily undertaken training and from which the first recruits for auxiliary services will be drawn.

No requisition for auxiliary workers has yet been received by the war services department from the fighting services, but Defence Minister Ralston said at a press conference Wednesday that 1,500 women for the Canadian women's army corps will be requisitioned "very shortly."

AIR FORCE AUXILIARY

A Royal Canadian Air Force auxiliary is also in process of organization.

Gen. LaFleche said representatives of women's organizations in different parts of Canada had conferred with him and he was impressed with their keenness, their understanding of problems concerning the enlistment of women, and their anxiety to avoid making any demands which might not coincide with the exigencies of the service.

"They are asking for no special privileges and they have shown themselves eager to iron out any possible difficulties which may arise," Gen. LaFleche said.

"The various organizations which have conducted voluntary training have indicated their readiness to participate in any further training which may be required to bring volunteers into line with the requirements of the fighting services."

STANDARDS HIGH

There has been recognition of the necessity of proceeding rapidly with organization of the services in the interests of the volunteers, and women's representatives "have emphasized the need of the volunteers being highly qualified in every respect so that high standards will be

Salad OF THE WEEK With BEST FOODS REAL MAYONNAISE

ATHENIAN SALAD

- 2 cups cooked macaroni, cut small
- 1 slice onion, finely chopped
- 3/4 cup grated cheese
- 1 cup diced celery
- 3 hard cooked eggs, chopped
- 1/4 cup sweet pickles
- Salt to taste

Best Foods Real Mayonnaise

Combine ingredients and toss lightly with enough Best Foods Real Mayonnaise to moisten. Serve on crisp lettuce with additional Best Foods Real Mayonnaise and garnish with tomato sections.

Note that the recipe for this salad calls for Best Foods Real Mayonnaise. Real Mayonnaise wakes up extra hidden salad flavors. This Mayonnaise contains no starchy filling and only freshly broken eggs with added egg yolks, vinegar, spices and "fresh press" salad oil. Rich and creamy, Best Foods Real Mayonnaise is part of the salad—not a mere dressing for it.

Elks' Convention Finishes Tonight

Since the beginning of the war Elks lodges throughout Canada have contributed $100,000 to war charities and have pledged themselves to carry on this beneficial work. This fact was learned at the second convention business meeting of the Grand Lodge held yesterday in the Elks' Hall. Committee work was the chief business of the day.

Home Economists Give Canteen

The Canadian Home Economics Association during the last year has raised sufficient money to buy a mobile canteen for Canadian soldiers in England. This is to be purchased through the Canadian Women's Club of London, and is to bear the inscription: "The Sir William Macdonald Canteen—Donated by the Canadian Home Economics Association."

It is fitting that the first project of home economists throughout the whole of Canada should be named after the late Sir William Macdonald, as it was through his efforts that home economics got its footing in the Dominion. He was the founder of the best-known institution for training women in this field—Macdonald Institute, Guelph, and he also endowed Macdonald College, Ste. Anne de Bellevue, Quebec (affiliated with McGill University).

The prize winners in the recent campaign for raising funds for the canteen are:

First—D. Lawler, 515 Pine Street, Montreal.
Second—C. Olafson, 3820 East Hastings Street, Vancouver.
Third—L. Waterman, Vancouver General Hospital, Vancouver.
Fourth—B. Kennedy, 176 Harvard Avenue, Winnipeg.

ANGELIC GIRLS' CAMP

The Anglican girls will hold their annual summer camp at Glinz Lake, from August 8 to 18.

Much pleasure can be derived from the camp and with its usual activities of swimming, hiking, handicrafts and camp fires at night. All girls are welcome and should register by July 31 with Mrs. F. A. Goodwin, 3608 Quadra Street, G 5247.

Elks' Convention Finishes Tonight

This fact was learned at the second convention business meeting of the Grand Lodge held yesterday in the Elks' Hall. Committee work was the chief business of the day.

Climaxing the three-day convention a banquet will be held in the Empress Hotel this evening at 7, this to be followed by the convention ball at 9. A 10-piece all-Elks orchestra will play for the dance.

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

THERE'S A STRIKE looming in the local sports world unless the weather man does something about this heat. We refer to the boys who take their pleasure these summer evenings out of playing box lacrosse out at the Sports Centre. Tuesday night's engagement between the Jokers and Alerts was just as if the lads had been playing in a great big oven.

Lynn Patrick likes to play boxla in the summer to keep him in condition for his hockey campaign with New York Rangers. If the big fellow didn't lose four or five pounds Tuesday we miss our guess. He pretty nearly created his own lake to swim in. Dusty Mair waved to one of his friends in the seats and nearly drowned him with the resultant shower. Reg Allen took off his kidney pads at the finish and wrung them like mother does on wash day.

And the spectators were every bit as uncomfortable. With daylight saving the rule it means the boys start their games an hour earlier, according to the sun, and the heat is simply unbearable. If the heat holds out much longer then we can guarantee both players and fans are in for some warm sessions. They had better take a few cubes of ice along.

Joe DiMaggio is still news, although his great hitting streak was broken yesterday. Here's what an eastern baseball expert has to say about the San Francisco Italian and his sensational hitting:

"Joe DiMaggio differs from most great hitters in that he stands with his feet far apart—fully 40 inches.

"Judging by the finish of his swing, you might suspect that DiMaggio takes a long step in swatting the sphere, but he doesn't.

"His left foot moves forward no more than six inches when he picks out the ball he wants to label.

"That is the secret of the consistency of the Yankees' one-man conflagration and every other outstanding clouter. His step is short and he doesn't make it until he has an excellent slant on what the pitch is going to be.

"That is why DiMaggio seldom is caught off balance or out of position. He doesn't commit himself until the pitcher shows his hand... until he has ample reason to suspect what is coming.

"DiMaggio came by his wide stance naturally. He was a devastating whacker from the outset, and Jimmy Caveney and Frank O'Doul, who managed him in San Francisco, had the good sense to let him alone.

"DiMaggio cocks his bat and holds it perfectly still. He keeps his head steady all the way through.

"The main idea is to bring the bat into the ball.

"Joe DiMaggio got it early and has never had any reason to change."

Cancel Tonight's Box Lacrosse

There will be a skip in the Victoria lacrosse schedule this evening with no games on the menu. Alerts and Bays were to have met, but players from both teams are at camp for military training and will be unable to secure leave tonight.

With only two league games left before the playoffs, Jokers meet Bays on Tuesday and the Alerts meet Ted Menzies' league leaders on Friday.

At a meeting of the Greater Victoria Box Lacrosse Association last night, members lent their support to a request from the Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association for an intercity exhibition tilt in aid of the British Columbia Sportsmen's Spitfire Fund.

Jack King, spokesman for the protective association, outlined the object of the fund, namely to purchase a Spitfire plane for the R.C.A.F. Working to a $23,500 objective, provincial sportsmen have already raised more than $1,000.

Tentative plans point to an exhibition game with a mainland team on a date to be set by the local boxla executive.

OUTDOOR FIGHTS

First-class boxing and wrestling bouts will be seen on the outdoor card to be presented tonight at the Cyclodrome, Douglas Street, starting at 8.

The complete card follows:

BOXING
Stoker Payson vs Ben Fairclough, 145 pounds; Jack Robinson vs George Hawkins, 125 pounds.

Other boys from Victoria Hobby Club.

WRESTLING
Tiger Goldstick vs Reg. Hopkins, Johnny Bartell vs Murray Speller, George Lowe vs Ram Singh.

Mioland Hot Choice

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mioland should win the $75,000 Gold Cup Handicap and by tomorrow night G. S. Howard should be admiring the big trophy—after caressing the fat cheque—for the third time in the four runnings of the rich summer classic.

His Oregon-bred Mioland, by all odds, should cakewalk in over a field that appears none too threatening.

Two weeks ago this youngster—his only four—won the $20,000 American Handicap over practically the same field.

Hottest tip around the track was on Harry L. Warner's three-year-old Parboy. Next best bet for the mile and a quarter race is Big Pebble.

Riddle in Spotlight

Wins 11th Straight

The inspired New York Yankees, whose climb back to the bomber status of two years ago started with DiMaggio's peerless batting streak, weren't put out by Joe's failure to extend the record. In fact they won their second consecutive victory 4 to 3 yesterday over the second-place Cleveland Indians to virtually knock the Tribe out of the American League pennant race and go out seven games in front.

But while DiMaggio's record was being snapped, another mark loomed at New York, where Cincinnati's sensational hurler, Elmer Riddle, rang up his 11th victory without a defeat by besting the New York Giants 5 to 4 in a National League nighter. Riddle gave up 10 hits and after a shaky start, did not allow a run after the fourth.

Lefty Gomez stopped the Indians with four hits and one run for eight innings, but Cleveland ousted him in the ninth with a rally. However, fireman Johnny Murphy filled the breach and after allowing Larry Orsental a triple for two runs, retired pinch-hitters Clarence Campbell, Hal Trosky and Roy Weatherly to give the Yanks their triumph.

In the Cincinnati-Giants struggle, Riddle was hit for a run in the first inning and two in the third but recovered his pace to go the route and win. In the last frame, with the tieing run on third base, he fanned pinch hitter Gabby Hartnett on called strikes.

Chicago White Sox skidded into the second division for the first time since early this season as Dominic DiMaggio paced Red Sox to a 7 to 4 victory over Chicago in another American League nighter. Dominic drove in three runs with a homer and triple.

The other night game in the circuit went to St. Louis Browns, who downed Philadelphia Athletics 4 to 3, mainly through Harland Clift's single with the bases loaded and one out in the ninth frame. In the only day struggle, young Sid Hudson, who hadn't much success against National League All-stars at Detroit, was chased in a two-run sixth inning as the Tigers banged out 14 hits to beat Washington Senators 7 to 1.

Cecil Travis, shortstop for the Senators, had his batting streak halted at 24 consecutive games as he failed to get a hit against Paul (Dizzy) Trout, who held the

Medalist Beaten In National Golf

SPOKANE (AP)—Tournament medalist and outstanding favorite Jimmy Clark of Long Beach, Cal., was the victim of a stunning upset yesterday when he lost to Jack Kerns, Denver, 2 and 1, in a quarterfinals of the national public links golf tournament.

The boy from Denver shot even par to oust a rival who had established a national record for U.S.G.A. sanctioned competition with a 36-hole qualifying score of 135.

Starting the match, Clark was 15 under par for 85 holes he had played. He was a 2 to 1 favorite. The gallery was for him.

Kerns opened by firing a four under par for the first four holes where he held a 4 up lead. He was 1 up at the turn. He made the match dormie 3. Clark remained in the running by winning the 16th with a par 4 where Kerns 3-putted from 50 feet.

The 17th was halved to end the match and register the biggest upset of the tournament.

The Californian missed a 10-footer by inches for the win on the 17th that would have kept the match alive.

Another rousing quarterfinal saw Art Pomy, Detroit, come from behind to edge out slight Bob Daniel, San Francisco, on the 19th green.

William Welch, Houston, Tex., oil equipment company employee, and Pete Doll, Louisville, Ky., clerk, marched into the semifinals less impressively.

Welch defeated Bob McReynolds, Portland, Ore., truck driver, 1 up, and Doll outshot colorful Lou Palenapa, Hawaiian from Honolulu, 3 and 2.

Cricket Matches

Tomorrow afternoon's league cricket match will see the Five C's and Garrison meet at Beacon Hill, starting at 2.30. Albions will travel up-Island to meet Cowichan in a friendly.

The Five C's team follows: G. Payne, Quantin, Griffin, Comley, Edwards, J. Payne, Martin, Mowbray, Twamley, Hood, Attwell, Hepworth and Averill.

Lindsay Surprises

Puts Gaudes Away

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver's battling Kenny Lindsay was up on some sort of a boxing pedestal today—though just what kind was a matter of controversy—after surprising everyone last night with an eight-round knock-out of the much-touted Johnny Gaudes of Toronto.

Lindsay scaled 117½ and Gaudes 118.

The Vancouver boxing commission sanctioned the bout for the Canadian title but the Dominion Boxing Federation, which operates in eastern Canada, will overlook Lindsay in favor of Eddie Pettin, Montreal, who they recognize as No. 1 Dominion bantam-weight.

So that leaves Ken holding a B.C. version of the Canadian bantam crown.

The end came as an unexpected surprise at 2.27 of the eighth round when the Vancouver fighter stabbed Gaudes with two vicious left hooks to the solar plexus which split fins for the Winnipeg-born Gaudes.

Gaudes forced the fight throughout and his weaving, ducking style baffled Lindsay to such an extent that the Vancouver

Swim Champion for Third Straight Year

VERDUN, Que. (CP)—Kay Gordon of Winnipeg won the Dominion senior women's 100-yard freestyle swimming title for the third year in a row last night when she swept to a close victory over Bernice Belbeck of Hamilton in the Canadian swimming and diving championships here.

Miss Gordon covered the Verdun natatorium course in one minute and seven seconds, five seconds off the record, to defeat Miss Belbeck by half an arm-length. Ethel Gilbert of Winnipeg placed third.

SOFTBALL SCORES

With Ray Hough hurling sensational ball, H.M.C. Dockyard blanked Macdonald Electric, B section softball leaders, 8 to 0, last night.

Simpson led the Dockyard batting parade with four for four, including a home run.

Playing in C section, Chinese Recreation Club, league leaders defeated M. Mc. and Prior 8 to 2. Leong pitched no-hit ball for six innings for the Chinese, while George Lowe smacked a homer.

In a Services League game the R.C.A.P.C. defeated the R.C.A.M.C. 8 to 5.

Great Stops Ended Joe's Hit Streak

CLEVELAND (AP)—The amazing Joe DiMaggio steps to the plate against Bob Feller today as just another hitter trying to get a hit.

After connecting safely in 56 consecutive games against the best pitching in the world for a major league record, the loping Yankee outfielder was stopped by two ordinary hurlers and an all-star third baseman.

A record night-game audience of 67,468 waited breathlessly four times for the all-important hit.

Once southpaw Al Smith walked Joe on a three-and-two pitch. Twice sure-fielding Ken Keltner dashed behind third base to make sensational backhand stops and throw out the New York slugger by a step.

The San Francisco star finally bowed out in a tense scene. One man was out and the bases loaded in the eighth inning when Jim Bagby was called from the bullpen. With the count one and one, DiMaggio rapped a sharp grounder to Lou Boudreau that ended in a double play.

Bagby said Joe swung at an outside fast ball. DiMaggio himself named Keltner as the villain.

JOE COMMENTS

Amid a Yankee victory celebration in the clubhouse, Joe commented:

"I can't say I'm glad that it's over. Of course I wanted to go on as long as I could. But Smith and Bagby didn't break my string. The guy who turned the trick was that Keltner. He was a little rough on me."

Ironically the tottering Indians were the last club to stop DiMaggio, the rangy fly-chaser going hitless against Mel Harder in New York May 14. The next day he started the streak against Chicago's Edgar Smith.

Joe broke two records during his sensational spree, passing George Sisler's modern major league mark of 41 set in 1922 and Willie Keeler's 1897 record of 44. His deluge of base hits inspired the Yanks to victory in 36 of their last 41 tussles.

In the 56-game period, the Yankee star went to bat 223 times and made 91 hits for 160 bases. He had 16 doubles, four triples, 15 home runs and batted in 56 runs while scoring the same number himself.

His average for the epochal string was .408. His mark for the season is .371.

Betting Group in Washington Smashed

SEATTLE (AP)—Several race-betting groups over the state who sought to profit by advance information on Longacres race results have broken up, the Washington Jockey Club announced yesterday. Capt. Frank Wilson of the state patrol directed the detective work.

A telegraph operator of a national communication system has been discharged but no names will be divulged and no criminal prosecution is planned, Captain Wilson said. Several men in Spokane and other eastern Washington cities have been placed under observation. The operator would flash results in code and bookies could then get down quick bets, before the results came through officially, Captain Wilson explained.

Germans Drop Leaflets

Exaggerated Claims Are Made By Propagandists

German airplanes have renewed leaflet dropping in Great Britain. Mrs. A. M. Harrison of 1030 Cook Street, has received a copy of one of the leaflets containing grossly exaggerated claims similar to those regularly made over the German radio, from her sister who resides in Wyberton, near Boston, Lincolnshire. It is as follows:

THE BATTLE OF THE ATLANTIC IS BEING LOST

The reasons why: 1. German U-boats, German bombers, and the German fleet sink and seriously damage between them each month a total of 700,000 to 1,000,000 tons of British and Allied shipping. 2. All attempts at finding a satisfactory means of defence against the German U-boats have failed disastrously. 3. Even President Roosevelt has openly stated that for every five ships sunk by Germany, Britain and America between them can only build two new ones. All attempts to launch a large shipbuilding program in America have failed. 4. Britain is no longer in a position to secure her avenues of supply. The population of Britain has to do with about half the ration that the population of Germany gets.

Britain herself can only support 40% of her population from her own resources in spite of the attempts made to increase the amount of land under cultivation. If the war is continued until 1942, 60 per cent of the population of Britain will starve.

All this means that starvation in Britain is not to be staved off. At the most it can be postponed, but whether starvation comes this year or at the beginning of next doesn't make a hair's breadth of difference.

Britain must starve because she is being cut off from her supplies.

Britain's losing the Battle of the Atlantic means Britain's losing the war.

PINNED UNDER BEAMS

Mrs. Hamilton also received information about the bombing of "a peaceful sleeping Eastern Counties town" when a German bomber dropped his load on a working-class district, chosen, apparently, as a "military target."

"All those nearby the scene of the damage had moving stories to tell of the morning's horror. One young London woman, Mrs. Betty Goodacre, who had lived through some of the capital's most serious 1941 'blitzes' and had been evacuated to this particular town, told a reporter:

"With an elderly lady, I was sleeping on the first floor. I awoke to find myself pinned under girders and beams. For a moment I could not move. I called out and got no reply. I wriggled free and went over to Miss Mason, who was caught fast under debris. I managed to crawl over her to the window and called for help. Everywhere was smoke and dust. Then, looming out of the haze, I saw some men approach, and gave a sigh of relief when I recognized that they had come to rescue us. "They put up ladders, broke down the window and got us both out.

"My father-in-law and mother-in-law were pinned under debris for about half an hour. Their roof crashed in and the floor beneath them gave way and they fell through into the dining-room. Bedroom furniture fell on top of them. They were taken to hospital suffering from cuts and shock, but my mother-in-law was the more seriously injured of the two."

FIVE IN ONE HOUSE KILLED

"A commercial hotel was wrecked and piles of debris hampered the work of the rescue party, which searched feverishly for the bodies of the proprietor's two young daughters which were believed to lie buried underneath. Fortunately, there were few guests staying at the hotel, and they escaped with only very slight injuries.

"Mrs. N. Harris, her three children, and Miss F. E. Brown, who were sleeping in a house nearby, were all killed instantly. The husband of Mrs. Harris is a member of the forces now serving overseas. Her father-in-law, who lives in a neighboring house, called on Mrs. Harris on his way home from night work. He asked her if she was going to get up, and she replied, 'Yes, dad.' The father-in-law arrived at his own house, and just as he was washing in preparation to going to bed, the street rocked with the force of an explosion.

"Several business premises were damaged by the blast, and the whole of the rear portion and part of the roof of a large modern public house was torn out. The only injury sustained in the household of five was by the licensee, who was cut by flying glass.

"Four motor cars, parked in the yard of the public house, were completely destroyed. One was left a twisted mass on what had been outhouses.

"A fire broke out in one part

Arnold Flett to Run in Cowichan

Arnold Flett, who missed victory by a narrow margin in the provincial election of 1937, will carry the Liberal standard in the Cowichan-Newcastle riding in the forthcoming fall campaign.

Mr. Flett was the unanimous choice of the delegates attending the nomination convention held in Chemainus on Thursday evening, presided over by Peter McKay, Ladysmith.

James King, Ladysmith, who had moved the nomination of Mr. Flett in the 1937 campaign, again named him to carry the Liberal banner in the constituency.

Mr. Flett, he said, had the character and qualities requisite for a candidate of a great party.

Joseph Nicholls, Duncan, seconded the nomination.

Mr. Flett said he realized, he went on, that a wartime government was one that had to face much criticism but no Liberal had any need to make apologies for the Liberal party today. The main thing today was to win the seat, he continued, but at the same time the right of the secret ballot was one of the rights that was being fought for and it was only right that ballots be cast even in time of war.

Mr. Flett said that the main opposition faced by the Liberal party in the riding would be that

Diplomats Tell of Cities in Ruins

Stories of Bomb Devastation Trickle Out of Germany

NEW YORK (CP)—The New York Times' correspondent in Turkey today quoted diplomats arriving from Germany on the havoc wrought by British bombing. The Times' dispatch said: "Duesseldorf is little more than a charred ruin."

"The ports of Hamburg and Bremen have been blasted until the harbor installations are useless."

"Hanover has been subjected to the heaviest bombing of military objectives since the war began."

"The Kiel Canal is being dredged and dynamited several times weekly to remove the wreckage of shipping sunk by British bombers.

"The intensity of recent British raids surpasses anything attempted in aerial operations by the Reich since the war began."

"An R.A.F. raid on Hanover blasted the railroad station and buildings for blocks about when flying fortresses hurled four 4,000-pound bombs squarely on their objective."

"A second wave of R.A.F. bombers dropped many high explosive bombs and thousands of incendiaries, transforming the railroad station district into a smoking furnace and creating panic throughout the city."

"Railway communications through much of western Germany have been seriously damaged. Some larger villages and cities were suffering from a severe shortage of food and other commodities in consequence."

"Workers are evacuating demolished centres in the Rhineland by the hundreds and the populations remaining behind are facing further food shortages."

"German morale, especially in the largest industrial cities, has been seriously shaken."

The Great Northern Goat, magazine distributed to passengers on the Great Northern Railway, devotes nearly a full page in its latest issue to pictures and a description of the park. The magazine also describes the old residence of Dr. J. S. Helmecken adjoining the park, which the provincial government hopes to open shortly to the public.

BETTER CHANCES NOW TO LIVE TO BE 100

All of us are interested in long life, and many are the recipes for it. A daily pint of beer—no beer—smoking—no smoking—beefsteaks—no meat—every centenarian has a different tale to tell. There is, however, just one point on which all doctors agree—that no man or woman ever reached extreme old age without a healthy colon.

It is impossible to have a healthy colon if you are the victim of constipation. Waste matter stagnating in the intestines sets up toxic poisons, which seep into your bloodstream, and cause lingering ill-health. The main cause of constipation is lack of moisture in your large bowel. Relief comes only when that moisture can be induced to return.

What Kruschen does

Kruschen contains several mineral salts, which are blended in exactly the right proportion, to bring back moisture to the large bowel. They stimulate the organs of evacuation to smooth, gentle action. At the same time, Kruschen has a diuretic action which helps to flush your kidneys and liver, and assists in ridding your bloodstream of the poisons which previous constipation left behind.

Naturally, the amount of Kruschen required to clear up a stubborn case of constipation depends on the individual. But once health and spirits have been regained, the dose should be reduced to just enough to cover a time, first thing every morning.

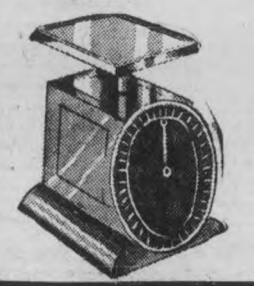

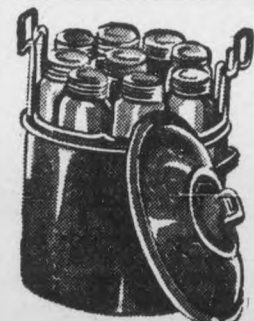

You can buy Kruschen from any drug store—for 25c and 75c. Give it a trial. Start today.

13th Brigade Parades

Noon-hour Crowd Sees Stalwart Easterners March

Hundreds of Victorians spent part of their lunch-hour today watching troops of the 13th Infantry Brigade march through the city to Beacon Hill Park for a ceremonial drill and inspection by Lieutenant-Governor Eric W. Hamber at 3 o'clock.

The brigade, comprising 2,300 men from Ontario, arrived in Victoria yesterday from Nanaimo and will be encamped at Macaulay Plains until Monday.

The parade from Macaulay Plains to the park was headed by Brigadier O. Milton Martin, officer commanding the brigade, and other brigade officers. The Lincoln and Welland Regiment followed the brigade officers, led by its own brass and bugle bands. This regiment was under Major John Madill, acting officer commanding. The regular O.C., Lieut. Col. C. H. Muir, is in Kingston, Ont., attending an officers' course.

Next came the Dufferin and Haldimand Rifles under command of Lieut. Col. S. C. Clegg, accompanied by their brass and bugle bands. The Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders, under command of Lieut. Col. T. W. Greenfield, led by their pipe band and cheering loudly in time to the music, marched last in the parade.

Spectators on the sidewalks commented favorably not only on the stalwart appearance of the troops, but on the excellence of the bands.

Many of the soldiers whistled as they marched, whole companies doing so in unison when unable to hear the band ahead.

Used to long training marches, the troops showed no sign of fatigue after their warm march from Macaulay Plains, striding erect and in time through the streets. The long column took only 10 minutes to pass one point.

The brigade had an unexpected rest however, when Johnson Street Bridge was opened for a few minutes just as they marched up the approach to the span.

Massed bands of the brigade will play retreat this evening and tomorrow evening at 9 on the grounds of the Parliament Buildings, with more than 100 pieces taking part. Tomorrow afternoon at 2 members of the brigade will join in the military sports at Macdonald Park, and on Sunday morning at 9.45 the brigade will attend an open air church service on Macaulay Plains at 9.45.

On Monday, the brigade will leave by foot for Nanaimo Military Camp. The march to Nanaimo will take four days.

Furniture of Authentic Style and Unusual Charm

SPECIALIZING only in finer quality furniture for the living-room, this new department is a never-failing source of interest to women who delight in having the main room in their home a place of restful comfort and pleasing smartness. The chesterfield suites and occasional chairs are replicas of authentic period designs. The coverings are of the lighter colored silks and figured damasks. The low coffee tables and other occasional pieces, while they may have glass tops for perfectly utilitarian purposes, are still harmoniously matching designs of Adam, Duncan Phyfe, Hepplewhite or other famous periods.

Robin Moor Was Also Shelled

BOSTON (AP) — Reporting loss of one of their shipmates, 19 survivors of the torpedoed of the American freighter Robin Moor arrived here yesterday on the Robin Locksley of the same line, firmly convinced the submarine which sank the first United States flag vessel in this war was in German command.

Francis J. Batkiewicz of Altona, Pa., survived the torpedoing, was picked up with others who drifted in open boats for 13 days, and was taken to Cape Town by a British rescuing ship, but he disappeared from the Robin Locksley three days out of Capetown on the voyage home.

Despite 13 days in an open boat on the south Atlantic, after the sinking May 31, there was little complaint of hardship among the crew.

Sometimes water ran low, they related, but rain squalls refilled casks. When they were picked up enough hardtack remained for about 10 days.

Capt. Edward W. Myers of Baltimore and his officers agreed the Robin Moor was torpedoed by a submarine in German command, which in addition fired 33 shells into their ship.

George Newton, radioman, expressed the opinion the submarine was of French manufacture, but manned by Germans. He said he believed it was too small to be operated out of Germany and thought Dakar might have been its base.

Rescued Canadian Seamen Identified

LISBON (CP) — Names of five Canadian seamen, survivors of the torpedoed motorship Silverview, who reached here from St. Vincent, Cape Verde Islands, were announced last night. They are:

Third Officer R. G. Robson, West Vancouver; Electrician H. F. Ketchell, Vancouver; apprentices I. B. Morrow of Naramata, B.C.; K. C. Angus of Winnipeg and A. Bath of Vancouver.

They were landed by rescuers first at Tarrafal, St. Anthony Island, taken later to St. Vincent and then brought here.

The 6,373-ton Silverview was owned by the Silver Line, a British company.

(The Maritime Register of New York said the vessel was torpedoed May 31 and that the captain and two sailors are believed to have been lost.)

RIVETERS IDLE

NORTH VANCOUVER (CP) — Clarence Wallace, president of the Burrard Drydock Company Ltd., said today a shortage of steel had forced the company to lay off 15 riveting gangs, totaling 75 men, for one week.

He said steel will arrive here in about four days, and that it will require about a week to fabricate it.

L. Campbell, business agent for the Boilermakers, Iron and Shipbuilders' Union, said he feared these men might be lured away to other jobs because of the demand for such skilled labor. Companies are prevented by law from taking trained workers from other firms, but Campbell said the men laid off are now free agents.

CHARLES MURPHY OF C.P.R. DIES

Funeral service will be held in Vancouver Saturday for Charles Murphy, 76, who started his railroad career as a messenger boy in Prescott, Ont., and rose to the position of general manager for western lines of the Canadian Pacific Railway before he retired in 1929 at Winnipeg. He died Wednesday. Mr. Murphy went to Vancouver 12 years ago on his retirement.

Mr. Murphy was telegraph operator and train dispatcher at Prescott, superintendent at North Bay, Ont., and St. John, N.B., and general superintendent at Toronto and Montreal. He went to Winnipeg in 1913 as general superintendent of the Manitoba district and became general manager for western lines in 1918.

Fuel Agent Passes

WINNIPEG — Ernest Humphrys, 72, retired fuel agent, C.P.R. western lines, died from a heart attack suffered late Wednesday afternoon when he was returning home after visiting friends.

Mr. Humphrys was one of a large family which came from Hull, England, in 1889 to the Cannington Manor settlement in British Columbia, making their first home in Canada at Morse, B.C., in the Pipestone area.

Besides his widow, Rita Humphrys, he is survived by one son, Flying Officer Francis J. B. Humphrys, R.C.A.F., at Dauphin, Man., and a daughter (Jane), Mrs. Mc Meredith Jones, Winnipeg; a brother, Noel, land surveyor with the Vancouver Harbor Commission, and three sisters, Mrs. Ernest Maltby and Mrs. Alan Troughton, North Vancouver; and Mrs. J. B. Mille now in Reading, England.

Navy as Career Finds Favor

OTTAWA (CP) — The navy as a career beyond the duration of the war is proving attractive to young Canadians who are signing up to serve seven years with the permanent establishment, naval officials here said.

On the prairies as well as the sea coast, the number of men entering the service has met requirements, but further recruits are being accepted constantly, with those who have some specialized knowledge which might be useful at sea given a particular welcome.

Officials said a changed method of receiving applications from recruits, announced this week, would result in speeding up action for the man seeking to enter the navy.

Instead of applications going to the Naval Secretary at Ottawa, the decision as to the recruit will be made by the commanding officer at one of the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve divisions at major cities across the Dominion.

This new system means that a recruit may appear at division headquarters, pass through his examinations and interviews, and start drilling the next day if there is room for him, instead of waiting for his application to go to Ottawa and back, officials said.

"At each divisional headquarters there is a naval officer of experience who, in his interviews with recruits, is able to establish their prospective value to the service and can see that they are entered without delay."

The course to be followed by the naval recruit is clearly marked. He receives six weeks probationary training at the divisional headquarters and, if found suitable, goes to the west coast for two months' specialized training with the permanent force of the Royal Canadian Navy.

"The man entering the R.C.N. on a permanent basis signs on for seven years and in those years he will receive training and experience in specialized work of inestimable value to himself and to his country," officials said.

By signing on for seven years, the R.C.N. recruit does not limit his service to the duration of the war, and officials noted that the Canadian navy had grown to a force of more than 21,000 men and 250 ships. Further expansion is under way.

Men found unsatisfactory for medical or other reasons after the six weeks' probationary training are retained in the R.C.N.V.C. for the duration of the war or are discharged.

Naval officials said 1,500 men were needed for active service every eight weeks. "Canadian seamen in Canadian ships are doing their part in the battle of the Atlantic and more men and more ships are coming along all the time," they said.

Wheat

WINNIPEG (CP) — Light flurries of buying by Canadian and United States mills featured today's session on Winnipeg Grain Exchange. With offerings scarce except for a little late southern selling, prices climbed 1/2 to 3/4 cent with July 76, October 78 1/4, December 79 1/2 cents a bushel.

In the coarse grain pit, mills showed some support in oats, mainly in connection with spreading, while shipper and maltster buying kept barley prices firm despite heavier offerings. Flax and rye values moved narrowly.

The cash wheat market was slow, with mills showing only moderate interest in Nos. 3 and 4 northern.

Chicago wheat values were about 1/4 cent higher, while Buenos Aires prices remained unchanged.

Farmers delivered 716,000 bushels of grain to country elevators yesterday, compared with 780,000 the same day last year, while grain inspectors checked 651 cars of grain against 776 a year ago.

Calgary Oils

CALGARY (CP) — Local oils showed little or no change in prices in a dull session of Calgary Stock Exchange today. Trading was thin, totaling only 1,000 shares.

New York List

NEW YORK (AP) — Quiet strength of farm implements and specialties gave the stock market a mild and spotty recovery Friday although many leaders did little or nothing. General advances were in small fractions and declines were plentiful.

Stocks in front most of the time were J. I. Case, International Harvester, Caterpillar Tractor, General Motors, Bethlehem Steel, Goodrich, Santa Fe, Western Union, Phelps Dodge, Texas Corp., Standard Oil (N.J.), Allied Chemical, Worthington Pump and General Steel Castings preferred.

Occasionally in arrears were U.S. Steel, Chrysler, Chesapeake and Ohio, Montgomery Ward, Anaconda, United Aircraft, Pepsi-Cola and Westinghouse.

Canadian stocks were up slightly. International Nickel gained 1/2, Distillers Seagram 1/4. Canadian Pacific lost 1/4, while Dome Mines were unchanged. In the bond market Canada 4s gained 1/8.

Trading Light

MONTREAL (CP) — Trading on the stock exchange towards the close of the session Friday was light and the list narrow. Many popular stocks were left on the shelf. Prices were irregular.

Hudson Bay Mining was fairly strong in pivotal metals and gained a fraction but Noranda slipped back. In oils, International Petroleum picked up a small gain.

Brazilian was moderately active and dropped a little in utilities, while Asbestos, Hamilton Bridge and Canadian Car were behind in industrials.

Radio Advances

TORONTO (CP) — Prices softened a bit in the late trading Friday on the Toronto exchange, particularly in golds which substituted a minor index loss for a midday gain.

A few of the cheaper golds showed good volume at higher prices. Bonetel and Broulan moved in quantity at gains of 4 to 5 cents. In the medium-price list values were irregularly lower.

Minor gains showed for Hudson and Pend Oreille while Nickel lost 1/4 to 3/8. In the western oils, Home Oil weakened 5 cents to 2.20 and narrow gains came through for Anglo-Canadian and Davies.

Standard Radio advanced 1/4 to a new high at 2 1/2.

Dynamo Does Work Of Thousands of Men

There was a time, less than two centuries ago, when the muscles of men and animals provided almost all the "power" used in making things. There were windmills to pump water and water-wheels to grind grain, but shoes, clothes and a hundred other common things were made by hand.

The invention of the steam engine opened a new day in the work of the world. Thomas Newcomen, an English blacksmith, invented a steam engine in 1705. It was used to pump water out of mines, but was not placed in factories.

Men at work on insulators which protect high-tension electric wires

Sixty years later, a young Scotsman named James Watt worked to improve Newcomen's steam engine. After long effort, he produced an engine which was fit for use in factories.

Watt's steam engine slowly, but surely, came into widespread use. It brought about great changes in the life of the world. In the past century and a half, the steam engine has been improved in many ways. It has been made to turn the wheels of locomotives as well as factories, and it drives ocean liners.

Electric power has done much to change the ways of people. By burning coal, oil, gas or other fuel, we can boil water, and steam from large boilers can be used to move turbines. The turbines set dynamos going, and in the end we have electric power.

Another way to obtain electricity is to use water power. Natural waterfalls and dams provide falling water which will turn wheels, and we obtain electricity to light our homes, toast our bread, chill our refrigerators and wash our clothes.

A dynamo with 75,000 h.p. will provide power for as much work as could be done by the muscles of thousands of men.

A flash of lightning is an electric spark of gigantic size. With a voltage of 100,000,000 and a big amperage, it has greater power than could be produced by any dynamo so far built. Perhaps the day will come when we will find how to harness the power of lightning flashes.

Despite war and other sad fortunes, we are living in a world which today offers a better way of life than was known in past ages. Let us hope we can do still more to set men free.

HOROSCOPE

JULY 19

Benefic aspects rule today. New purposes and projects should bring good returns. Fresh ideas or associations in the business world will be successful. Under harmonious rays from Pluto, Neptune and Saturn business and financial deals should be profitable. Generosity will pervade the actions of both men and women. Toward evening persons will flock to amusement centres and entertainments of all kinds should flourish.

There is a sign read as indicating a prominent place in the news for women this month. Women's organizations may play an important part in the war effort in the near future.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of an eventful year. Children born on this day may be cheerful and diligent.

OTTAWA (CP) — Officials of the External Affairs Department view the insertion in German broadcasts of lists of Canadians held in Germany or German-occupied territory as a device to gain Canadian listeners for Nazi newscasts without giving any new information.

Names of Canadians so far heard in the Dominion on these German broadcasts already have been issued officially by the External Affairs Department. This probably will continue to be the case, officials said.

British reports state that salvage of sunken or damaged vessels has rescued $40,000,000 worth of food, munitions and other cargoes and $48,000,000 worth of shipping.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—My husband is a drinking man, and after putting up with it for 15 years I thought it best to get interested in a business outside of my home. So I got busy and after a year of it I have done well. It takes me away from home but a few hours daily, so I do not have to neglect my family. Now, after two weeks of total abstinence, my husband insists that I give up the business and he says he will stop drinking absolutely. I have told him that if he will prove to me for six months that he has reformed I will give up my outside interests which I love. My friends say I am foolish to work when he can support me, but he has always been a drinking man and life heretofore for all of us has been hades.

MRS. H.R.T.

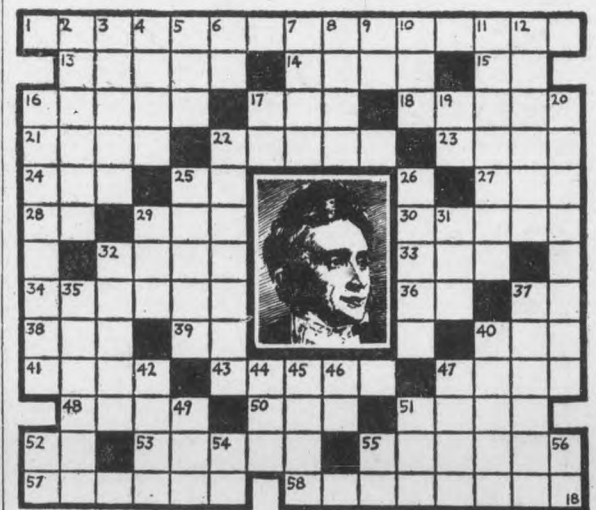

Answer: I think your proposition to your husband is eminently fair and reasonable. If he has been a drunkard for 15 years he cannot expect you to be enthusiastically optimistic about his permanent reformation because he has been sober for two weeks. Six months, however, will give him a chance to prove the strength and sincerity of his determination to quit drinking and to brace up and be a man and do a man's part toward his family.

I think you showed your courage and intelligence in setting out to make an individual life for yourself when your husband failed you, and that you would be very foolish to throw away all you have won until you find out how much he is to be depended upon.

I have long urged a similar course upon other unhappy wives. I think that many women could save their lives from utter shipwreck if they would just face the fact that their marriages are failures and instead of sticking to the ship and going down with it set about salvaging what they can get out of the wreck.

DOROTHY DIX.

Visitor Here Learns
Of Nephew's Death

SASKATOON (CP)—An uncle of L.A.C. George Edward Baker of Barry, Wales, was located today at Victoria, B.C., by officers of No. 4 service flying training school to which Baker was attached before his death early Wednesday when the plane he was flying solo crashed here. He was 20.

Announcement of the airman's name was delayed until today when confirmation was obtained that his father, G. R. Baker of Barry, had been notified of his death.

Officials learned that an uncle and cousin visited the young Welshman about a week before the crash and then left for Banff, Alta. The uncle, W. A. Whittaker of Rutledge, Pa., saw the report of the crash in a Victoria newspaper and in a telegram today inquired whether the unnamed Welsh airman was his nephew. He is expected to come here for the funeral.

A court of inquiry was set up to investigate the crash.

Valera Speaks

No Eire
Co-operation

DUBLIN (CP)—A suggestion by James Dillon, deputy leader of the Fine Gael Party, that Eire abandon her neutrality stand and co-operate with Britain and the United States has been rejected last night by Prime Minister Eamon de Valera.

"If anyone attacks us, then every one of us can die if necessary fighting for what we are certain is a just cause," Mr. de Valera told the Dail.

William T. Cosgrave, former president of the Irish Free State and Fine Gael leader, said he didn't think Mr. Dillon's suggestion was wise.

Mr. Dillon told the Dail he believed neutrality was not the correct course for Eire and declared the Irish should ascertain "precisely what operation Great Britain and the United States might require to ensure success" against Germany. He said the Irish then should "afford to the United States and Britain co-operation to the utmost of their resources."

(Since the outbreak of war the British government has sought to re-establish naval bases at Cobh, Berehaven and Lough Swilly. Prime Minister Churchill has said refusal of Mr. de Valera to turn over the bases and airfields in Eire "put a grievous load" on the British navy in its fight against the U-boat menace.)

Mr. de Valera told the Dail that no matter from which side Eire might be attacked, the Irish would fight and "that is not a cowardly position."

"If we are attacked at all it will be by one of the big nations of the world," he said. "We have to face it and we are prepared to face it. We are determined to live our own life."

Whole Convoy Sent to Bottom

7 Nazi Sailing Ships
Sunk in Mediterranean

LONDON (CP)—Seven sailing vessels filled with German troops, gasoline and ammunition were sunk in the Mediterranean by British submarines, the Admiralty announced today.

Among them, it said, was one whole convoy of a schooner and three large caiques, which was wiped out.

(Caiques are small sailing vessels common to the eastern Mediterranean. Many probably fell into German hands with the occupation of Greece.)

"In addition to this convoy," the Admiralty said, "one schooner and two large caiques which were carrying German troops and military stores have been sunk."

"Both schooners and the five caiques were wearing the German flag."

The communique also listed a supply ship, escorted by Italian destroyers and planes, as torpedoed and probably sunk.

Banting Plane Only Machine Lost

Atlantic Ferry Pilots
Maintain Fine Record

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL

MONTREAL (CP)—By day and night a steady stream of United States bombers is flown across the north Atlantic to battle-scarred Britain by a group of young ferry pilots who consider the trips "just routine" jobs.

For the past year or so the pilots, 65 to 70 per cent of them Americans, have been delivering the bombers in good and sometimes in bad weather conditions and have lost only one plane on the Atlantic crossing. That was the craft which carried Sir Frederick Banting of Toronto to his death in Newfoundland last December.

Since that crash and before it all machines have reached their destination without incident or interference by the enemy.

NO ENEMY SEEN

Four pilots, allowed by Attero, the Atlantic ferry organization, to tell their experiences to newspapermen, said there was not a single instance where a ferry crew had got a glimpse of the enemy either in the sky or on the water.

Among the men, whose names were withheld from publication, was a 28-year-old Texan who once operated an airline service in Arkansas. He has made the 8 to 12-hour trip across four times.

"If the enemy should ever try to intercept us," he said, "there are usually lots of nice fluffy clouds over the ocean to disappear into."

"Nothing bothered me in the least, and the only time I was the least bit worried was when making low approaches during bad weather."

All the men said the trips are not what some newspapers are playing them up to be.

Another of the men had 15 years' flying experience with the Imperial Airways and British Empire air services before taking the ferry job. A third man, a young Canadian from a northern Ontario town had about 2,000 hours' flying time to his credit before accepting his present assignment. He too finds the Atlantic trips pretty much routine although quite different from the jaunts he used to take over the northern Ontario bush country.

"The fourth pilot, a native of England, flew for an oil company before the war and later was a member of the air transport auxiliary."

Crews on the craft vary from three upwards and there is plenty of work to keep them busy.

U.S. Tanks Proved
By British in Egypt

LONDON (CP)—United States-made light cruiser tanks of the M-3 type have been on the battle-front in Egypt and have "proved to be a most valuable weapon."

Lord Beaverbrook, Minister of Supply, disclosing this fact, said that mechanically "it is the most reliable tank in the world."

He said the M-3's were "given a severe test of 3,000 miles of continuous traveling over country of every kind" and "stood up to the ordeal magnificently, giving no trouble whatever."

"It is believed to be as fast as anything in this class of tank the Germans can put into the field," he asserted.

Grenfell's Ashes
Sent to Newfoundland

BOSTON (AP)—The ashes of Sir Wilfred Grenfell have been carried to Newfoundland to be buried in the northland where for nearly half a century he gave spiritual and medical aid to Eskimos, Indians and fisherfolk.

It was Sir Wilfred's wish that he be buried at the side of Lady Grenfell in the land where he gained renown as "the Good Samaritan of Labrador and northern Newfoundland."

Burial of the noted missionary, who died last October at his Charlotte, Vt., home, will be late this month at St. Anthony, Newfoundland, headquarters of his work in the north.

By providing irrigation, Grand Coulee Dam will create at least 20,000 new farms.

Save Gasoline

Planes on the offensive—planes to bomb Berlin—all must be kept empty fuelled at all times—day and night!

Ahead looms the threat of a national gas and oil shortage. The tankers that once brought these precious fuels to Canada are now being requisitioned to ferry them to Britain. Because of this diversion of tankers, our gasoline and oil supply has been drastically reduced. The needs of our Commonwealth Air Training Plan and the ever increasing demands of our mechanized army and driving munitions plants are enormous.

REMEMBER—The slower you drive the more you save!

This dire shortage threatening our war effort must be made up!

Car owners can do it! Pledge yourself to go 50/50 with our Fighting Forces. Walk at every opportunity. If you drive to work, share your car with your car-owning neighbour—let him drive you the following day. Using one car a day instead of three or four will mean a substantial reduction in fuel consumption... Multiply this by over a million Canadian cars and the daily saving is tremendous. Do YOUR part.

It is also vitally important that you reduce the use of domestic and commercial fuel oil.

17 easy ways towards a
50% GASOLINE
SAVING

(Approved by Automobile Experts)

- Reduce driving speed from 60 to 40 on the open road.
- Avoid jack-rabbit starts.
- Avoid useless or non-essential driving.
- Turn motor off when not in use, do not leave idling.
- Don't race your engine; let it warm up slowly.
- Don't strain your engine; change gears.
- Keep carburetor cleaned and properly adjusted.
- Tune up motor, timing, etc.
- Keep spark plugs and valves clean.
- Check cooling system; overheating wastes gasoline.
- Lubricate efficiently; worn engines waste gasoline.
- Drive in groups to and from work, using cars alternate days.
- For golf, picnics and other outings, use one car instead of four.
- Take those short shopping trips ON FOOT and carry parcels home.
- Walk to and from the movies.
- Boat owners, too, can help by reducing speed.
- Your regular service station man will gladly explain these and other ways of saving gasoline. Consult him.
